Kansas City Kittens Home After N. Adams Escapade

Two little kittens from Kansas City know their way around now! They arrived via Jackson where they were put in the care of the John Gilberts and son Tripper of Haddington road for three years while Colonel and Mrs. Howard Galladay, relatives of Mrs. Gilberts, left for three years' service in Ismir, Turkey.

The kittens, Sunday and Lucy, were given the Galladay by Major John Eisenhower while they were stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Mo.

The Gilberts no more than got home from the kittens disappeared. They spent weeks tracking them down. Mrs. Norman Terry's dogs on Dover street had them up a tree at one point. Mrs. Hattie Markey of Charing Cross road, knowing nothing of their past, was astonished to discover two kittens in her garden with Kansas City tags around their necks.

The big question was "how on earth did they get this far?" Mrs. Terry came to her rescue with the story and temporary owners, the John Gilberts.

So ends the escapades of the Kansas City kitties!

The Ray Emburys and children Marilyn, Bill and Ray, of Rouge circle, are home again after very busy three weeks at Torch lake. Many hours were spent water skiing, swimming and boating.

The Fred Postillons and Eric Knight of Rouge circle stopped off to spend a weekend on their return from a vacation to the upper peninsula.

Another Pine Hill family, the Maurice Meads, spent two weeks on Torch lake with the Emburys. While there, they took many day trips to Charlevoix and Harbor Springs. Mission Point near Traverse City was an impressive sight with all the scores of ripe cherry trees.

On the Embury's last week at the lake, the Gordon Croaches and son Donald were their guests.

Marilyn Embury and Sue Smith of Pine Hill and Dawn Karnes of Birmingham are still talking about their "fabulous weekend" when they were guests at Culver Military academy in Culver, Ind.

The weeks before went into the planning of what to wear and when the final hour came, each was equipped with luggage galore. Another highlight of the weekend was the trip by train.

Returning home after a few days playing golf in and around Toronto are the Hugh Whites of Charing Cross road.

While in Toronto they were houseguests of the George Fullers, also golf enthusiasts.

Two weeks of cottage life agreed with the John Vivians of Burnley drive. Their two children, Joanne and Johnny, were fascinated with fishing and many an exciting swim and sunning at Hubbard lake.

A wise trip was taken to Mackinac island where they went on a tour in a surry. Trips were also taken to Alpena.

Visiting his grandmother, Mrs. A. P. Cook, at Elk lake was a big thrill for Tripper, son of the John Gilberts of Haddington road. His parents plan on joining them at the Rex terrace at Elk lake for a few days.

The John Virgins have just returned to their home on Meadowlark drive after an enjoyable two weeks in the cottage near the Algona on the St. Clair river. Their sons, the John Virgins and three children of Birmingham and the Tom Virgins and two children of Royal Oak, joined them.

The John Smiths of Bolingbroke have Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Roy Buddenberg, visiting from Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Other houseguests were Mrs. Smith's brother, Roy Buddenberg, and a friend, Don Berg of Saginaw.

The three guests left for a week at Drummond island in the upper peninsula and will return to the Smiths for a few days before returning to Indiana.

Other Bolingbroke residents entertaining houseguests were the Alan Yates. Their guests were Mr. Mrs. Willard Willis of Cayuga, Ky. They are relatives of Yates. The Willis are now traveling through the Georgian bay region and plan on a few more days in Birmingham before returning home.

The Vern Masons of Kirkcaldy are entertaining Mrs. Mason's sister, Mrs. Don Newkirk and children from Buffalo, N. Y.

Last Sunday the Masons and their houseguests attended a family reunion and barbecue at the home of the James Fitzgeralds of Royal Oak. Their last reunion took place before the war. Relatives arrived from all corners of the country.

Mrs. Bruce Kendall and Mrs. Roger Caspell, both of Kirkcaldy, were co-hosts to a get acquainted coffee for newcomers in their area of Charing Cross estates. Among the 15 attending were newcomers Mrs. Vern Mason, Mrs. Paul Landry, Mrs. Dennis Buckley, Mrs. William Younger, Mrs. William Rex, Mrs. George Rutz, Mrs. Thomas Gay and Mrs. Norman Sullivan.

The Norman Sullivans moved into their new home on Kirkcaldy from Stanley avenue in Birmingham. They have three daughters, Pat, Li, Virginia and Sarah. The older girls will be Harlan pupils in the fall.

Sullivan is a manufacturers' representative and enjoys golf. He belongs to Dearborn Country club.

The George Rutz family is getting settled in its new home on Kirkcaldy road. Its move was from Jackson Park in the Berkshires. They have three daughters, Mrs. Louis Zeytes of Pierce street, Birmingham, Mrs. Peck Robins and Miss Louie and Becky Lou of Springfield, Ohio, and Nancy, a junior in elementary education at Wittenberg college in Springfield. Rutz is a trust officer at Manufacturers Trust, Detroit.

Mrs. and Mrs. George Rutz became grandparents again July 4 when their daughter, Mrs. Louis Zeytes of Pierce street, Birmingham, gave birth to a son, David, at William Beaumont hospital. The baby weighed 7 pounds 5 1/2 ounces. The Zeytes have another son, Douglas, 2 years old.

Other new residents on Kirkcaldy road are the Williams Younger family of Yorkshire road, Birmingham. The Younger children are Bill, 7, an Indian boy and Sherry, 6. They attend Harlan in the fall.

Younger is sales manager at the Square D in Detroit. The family is active in Birmingham Methodist church. Mrs. Younger belongs to the American Association of University Women.

The Dennis Bucklys are newcomers to Yorktown street, Charing Cross Estates. Their move was from Pittsburgh, Pa., where three of their daughters, Mrs. Ronald Ruse, Mrs. Donald Schiffour, and Miss Peggy Buckley, still reside. They also have a son, A.J.C. Paul Buckley at Castle air base, Merced, Calif. Their other two sons are Jim Hsieh, in the seminary at Notre Dame, and Albert Riehl, who resides in Greensburg, Pa. Buckley is with Chrysler Corp. in the training center. He joins the family in being a golf enthusiast.

Visiting the Bucklys now are Peggy and Jim. Paul spent a month with them and has recently returned to California.

Yorktown street has another new resident, the Paul Landrys of Royal Oak. They have a son, James, 10, who will be attending Harlan school. Landry is vice president of Commercial Credit Corp., Detroit. Mrs. Landry does interior decorating from her home. Golf is a sport they both enjoy.

The Thomas Gay family is busy landscaping around its new home on Whitney court. Their move was from Morristown, N. J. They have a 5-month-old daughter, Sherwood Jeanne. Gay is a salesman with Ryan Sales, Detroit, a branch of the leather concern of Blanchard Brothers and Lane.
