

Stepping Stones for The Lawn

There are very few gardens in the Birmingham area, which are old enough to have that old World feeling, due to good planning and sufficient maturity, but we surely have one in the garden of the A. A. Clark at Adams and East Long Lake, way up on the hill.

Within the garden itself, there are at least ten places where you can stop and admire packages of charm. Primarily the plants are well chosen perennials but the design is paramount with the topography being dramatized. Nestled in natural areas are bird baths and objects of art, well chosen.

THE STRUCTURE itself is U-shaped and there is an attractive brick courtyard. This garden has been described to you minutely in years past. It is a beauty spot worthy of visiting annually as each portion of the year is well planned and planwise for a constant performance of color. Like is the clipped shrubbery, or rabbits ears, to many which has that light grey green or velvety color.

It will doubly assure you of the safe arrival of your prize. Often we grow ground covers near trees. This is a good time of year to toss plenty of non burning fertilizer over the bed of ground cover to assure you of a lush growth.

Grass grows from the roots and not the grass tips. Regular feeding of your lawn assures you of deep rooting.

WHILE you are enjoying your July breather in the garden plan for the year ahead. Have your lawn, survey your lawn. Have you planned for your natural traffic lanes? Often sidewalks are too narrow and can be easily widened by placing bricks beside the cement.

Stepping stones large enough to accommodate a man's shoe is another way to safeguard worn places on the lawn. Often angles where the sidewalks meet the driveway are worn bare and a correction can be made by placing stepping stones where the angle meets.

If the family walks around the garage to the rear garden provide stepping stones for the traffic.
