Hills P. O. Open For Applications

An examination for rural carrier for the post office at Bloomfield Hills will be open for acceptance of applications until July 9. Complete information about the examination requirements and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the Bloomfield Hills post office.

U of M Grad Gets Economics Prize

Brownson Murray, of Keswick road, Bloomfield Hills, received the Harold D. Osterwald prize of $50 for outstanding work in the field of economics at the University of Michigan. He shared the honor with Lewis A. Engman, of Grand Rapids. Both are June graduates.

Studies Teaching Methods in Europe

Carol Letton, 4635 Pickering, Birmingham, is one of 42 American teachers and student teachers on a tour studying European methods. The group will spend two months visiting England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland and other countries.

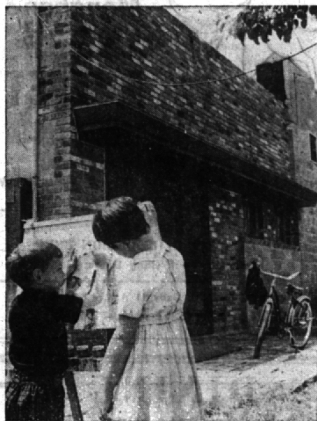

May Toll Low

The May accident record toll was the most favorable of the year, with only 45 accidents reported and six persons injured, according to Birmingham Police Chief Ralph W. Mosley. He said violations were indicated in 44 of the accidents. Total damage was $5,768, compared to $15,919 and 56 accidents in May, 1956.

Young Actors Relax

Two five-year-old students have fun painting just outside the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre building, where a summer program will combine dramatic training and recreation. At left is Johnny Manikoff, 4255 Telegraph road, Bloomfield Hills, with Linda Kinzler, of 3381 Devonbrook, Bloomfield Hills. The theatre plans two four-week terms this summer at the new building on W. Long Lake road, Bloomfield Hills.
