AFS'rs Coming From Norway And Japan to BHS

Foreign exchange students coming to Birmingham in late summer under the American field service program are Marit Maasen from Norway, and Yukey Namura from Japan. Marit will live with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Mabley and daughter Kay. She is coming in place of Elizabeth Burdick, Belgium, who had to withdraw her application. Marit is interested in many sports, including swimming and tennis. She also likes to draw and paint. Yukey will be living with the Williams Birchards and Lynn. He comes from Osaka-Shi, Japan, and is interested in business and in sports, liking basketball and judo especially.

ANOTHER JAPANESE student is being sponsored by Miss Marian Goodale, head mistress at Kingswood. He will live with the T. H. Millingtons and attend Birmingham high school.

Again this summer, two Birmingham students will be going to Europe on the summer AFS program.

Betty Nichols will spend the summer in Upsala, Sweden, where she will live with a University professor's family.

Pete Brink will head for Portugal June 20, where he will live with the family of Tom da Fonseca, now an exchange student here.

BHS officers recently proven favorites are Chad White, president; Dick Sloan, vice president; Doug Danziger, secretary; and Bob Elston, treasurer. They will preside next year.

In the annual seniors versus faculty baseball game last week the boys lost a close game to the "oldsters." Score was 11 to 5.

Ellie Hogsten was winner for the year in the GAA archery tournament. Ellie, winner of the fall round, beat the score of the spring winner, Faith Harrington.

The cat was let out of the bag Friday morning at the honors assembly. The senior of the year, best all around student, was presented with his engraved trophy. It was Jay Miller, who, among other things, worked very hard as assistant editor of the yearbook and was an important factor in its success.

Other awards given to individuals included science, received by John Risk and the scholarships. These were the Robert J. C. Traub Memorial, which went to Susan Kennedy and Art Plaxton, and a merit scholarship given by the U of M, also received by Art.

There were recognitions to many girls for their participation in sports such as softball, basketball, badminton, pingpong and cheerleading. Boys received awards for baseball, basketball and track.

School News

How Americans Celebrate

"America Celebrates" featured 339 costumed children, students at Wing Lake school in Bloomfield Hills, performing on a paved court outside the school last Wednesday. Here sixth grade students of Lester Utterback portray the Barber Shop quartet era with a dance following the singing of "Sweet Adeline" in a section on popular music. Other youngsters staged colorful presentations including American nationality groups a circus, national holidays, a Mardi Gras and a show boat troupe. Theme of the program, choreographed and written by physical education instructor, Mrs. Ruth DeCoul, stated the heart of a people can be found in their music, their dances and their celebrations. Mrs. Mabel Hammerbeck, art teacher, was responsible for the elaborate settings, and Mrs. Almo Hill, music teacher, was in charge of music. Working with their own students, classroom teachers assisted in preparation of the ambitious production.

Cranbrook Corridor

By LES PERRIN

Cranbrook's two highest honors given to members of the graduation class, the citizenship and scholarship awards, were bestowed upon Head Prefect Duncan Black and Bruce McCaul respectively at awards night ceremonies Friday evening. In addition to his position as head prefect, Duncan has held many other positions which well qualify him for the citizenship award. The scholarship award comes as no surprise to Bruce McCaul, senior dayboy prefect, for scholastically he has led his class for six consecutive years.

Editors Walter Bardage of the Crane, Fritz Kern of the Brook and Bruce McCaul of the Opus each received a bronze medal at the awards ceremony for their work on the school publications.

The program also included a solo by Clason Schumard, and numbers by the high school choir and the "Jills."

throughout the year. Fred Woodworth, Robert Schirmer and Louis Potter have been selected as the editors of next year's Crane, Brook and Opus, respectively.

FRIDAY NIGHT the faculty had selected the faculty senior award dualy to Ken Cameron and Phil Angel. Ken, press agent, has continually kept Cranbrook's athletic, social, and scholastic events in the Detroit and local papers, all the while acting as lower school prefect. Phil, vice-president of the UOC and lower school prefect, received the most improved player award in his senior year.

Taking the flag from Duncan Black, the outgoing head prefect, Lloyd Asbury was officially announced as next year's head prefect. Conducting the ceremony and presenting all of the new prefects was Headmaster Harry Hoy. As one of the most active members of the junior class, Lloyd has lettered in both baseball and football, as well as participating in several activities. In addition, he was elected last month to the school social committee.

Elected as senior prefects were John Miller, Gary Grikscheit, Pete Turner, and Osman Jacobson. Also announced at the awards ceremony were the regular prefects, Charles Love, Tom Noteware, Bill McGaughey and John Studebaker.
