HENRY FORD'S DETROIT REVOLUTION
 When Henry invented the Model T, he put a nation on wheels—and changed Detroit forever. Learn how Detroit became "the Motor City," in Holiday's exclusive series on the Ford Family!

Last month, all Detroit was talking about Holiday's exciting story of the Fords. Now, in July Holiday Magazine, you'll read about the first feverish days when fortunes were made overnight . . . when the assembly line turned industry upside down . . . when Henry's theories about wages and profits shook the country!

You'll learn what happened when the first fabulous profits poured in . . . why Henry stopped the famous camping trips he took with Thomas Edison . . . why he sent $50 to everyone who bought a Model T during a certain year . . . and more!

You'll read about: Dearborn, Greenfield, the fight over River Rouge, Bagley Avenue, Rosetta Hauss' hundred dollars, Fair Lane, John and Horace Dodge, Gaukler Pointe, Willow Run! Read the exciting true story of Henry Ford's impact on Detroit in July Holiday Magazine. Get your copy today!

TWO DESERVING SONS get kisses from their proud mothers following induction ceremonies in which they became members of the National Junior Honor society last week. From left is Mrs. C. O. Egner with son Ted, and Mrs. Herbert D. Hunter with son Dave. The boys were among 40 Barnum junior high school students honored by membership in the newly-reactivated chapter at the ceremony to congratulate their offspring.

Junior Honor Society Inducts 40 at Barnum

While their parents looked on proudly, 25 ninth graders and 15 eighth graders were inducted into the reactivated National Junior Honor society last week.

The honor society chapter at Barnum had ceased activities in 1932, after which ninth graders attended Barnum high school until the opening of Derby junior high school this year.

Members of the Barnum high school chapter of the National Honor society, presided at the impressive induction ceremony before the assembled student body.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL Herbert Hengst said the new chapter's members were selected on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, character and service.

He said over 150 students at the school qualified on the basis of the honor society's scholastic requirement of a B average or better.

The newly reactivated chapter met later to elect Michael Emery their president. Other officers named were Tracy Miller, vice president; Jane Griffith, secretary; James Ruhly, treasurer, and Ruth Ann Payton, historian.

OTHER NATIONAL Junior Honor society members are Robert Adams, James Alle, George Asbury, Ann Barky, Beverly Barich, Keith Bateman, Phyllis Benecke, Betty Borchert, Jean Buchanan, Thomas Burgum, Judith Burns, Kaye Cloheset.
