

SOUTHFIELD HI NOTES

They say women possess the "gift of gab," but Joan Gale is convinced that David Hines has the "gift of magic." Joan and a girl friend were leaving school after a recent night rehearsal and were unable to get their car started. They noticed Dave coming out and called for help. Dave got into the car, turned on the key, and pressed the starter, and it started! It seemed like a miracle, but Dave is having a harder time than ever understanding the ignorance of the fair sex.

Last week, as a government class assignment, girls from Miss Doreen Picard's class went to a township meeting in the town hall. But they went on the wrong Tuesday night, and found themselves attending the zoning board of appeals meeting! However, they were invited to stay, and given special seats and introductions to the board members. Upon leaving they were given many maps, forms and papers to take back to class, and one of the men explained each document. The girls felt rather happy that they had been mistaken, for they learned a great deal at the zoning meeting.

Several students have won awards in the Crowley-Milner art contest. The four gold key winners from Southfield are Carol Saari, Janet Donald, Elaine Parker and Martina Lambertson.

Barbara Melnick had a long-to-be-remembered birthday the other day. Since she worked until quite late at Northland the night she turned 18, she had no guests and much excitement. However, the excitement began when she left Northland. It became evident to her that a car was following her. When she turned into her street, and the strange car still persisted in following, she became quite frightened. Turning into her driveway she noticed that there were no lights on in the house and the drapes were pulled.

Upon entering the house, she noticed a cake, and then from all directions about 12 people called "Surprise!" All Barb could do was scream. In the car that followed her was her brother, just making sure she came straight home to attend her birthday party.

At Musical Festival

Vincent Kockenderfer, vocal instructor at Southfield and 215 music students attended the District four music festival in Royal Oak yesterday. They presented one required number and one selected number. The group consisted of 135 members of a mixed choir and 100 members of the girls' glee club.

Southfield 10 Eighth Graders Get Counseling

Eighth graders at Southfield-10 school are meeting with high school counselors this week to line up their programs for next fall. Forms have been sent to parents regarding future programs, achievement scores have been recorded, their previous semester grades have been entered on their records and their instructors have made recommendations. Working on the counseling program are Richard Schick, Lecha Palmer, Sanford Burr, and Mary Lou Lake.

BARNUM JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Barnum's students are planning an all-school variety show under the direction of Miss Marie Buzette. The show, consisting of dancing, pantomimes, singers, instrumentalists, monologues and singing groups will be given March 19 and 25 at a school assembly. Student committees directed by Jim Rubly and Sue Bliss, are planning the program and script. Tickets will be sold for a public performance March 29 to be composed of selected groups from the two previous performances.

The seventh grade recently presented a play, "Hiwashi," by Mr. William Ladd wrote the script, and Miss Sally St. Clair and Miss Dorothy Joan directed the support. The play was presented to the students and PTA.

Over six hundred (600) spectators watched the Barnum all-star team win over the Derby all-star team, 34-29. The same fans watched the Derby faculty win over the Barnum faculty last night. The game was held recently in Derby's new gym.

Parents of the ninth graders drove the choir students to Hayride Lodge in Rochester last week. Upon their arrival they found two horse-drawn wagons waiting to take the students on the night's ride. After the ride, a lunch was served, and the rest of the evening was spent playing shuffle board, ping pong, dancing and singing. All enjoyed themselves including the chaperones, Miss Carl Brette and Mr. James Birch.
