

First Aid Course Popular With Many Local Residents

The William Beaumont hospital service committee began offering a first aid course to the public 18 months ago. The course is now becoming very popular with residents in the North Adams area.

The groups range from 6 to 12 persons and the classes are held from 9:00 to 12:00 a.m., Mondays and Tuesdays of each week. The six week course, when completed, totals the 36 hour requirement. Graduates can then do volunteer work as nurses aids in the hospital, if they are interested. Among the recent graduates are Mrs. Herman Carenman of Newburg, Mrs. Don Fleiser of North Glenhurst, Mrs. William McNary of Fairway, Mrs. Howard Linder of Chesterfield, Mrs. Blanche Scott of West 13 Mile and Mrs. John Livermore of Brady lane.

The Parent Teachers Organization of Eastover school held its March meeting on the evening of the fourth, in the school's multipurpose room. Mrs. Kathleen Hart, supervisor of the Bloomfield Hills elementary schools, was the moderator for a panel discussion on how reading is taught to our children.

The discussion began with each teacher from kindergarten through the sixth grade giving a resume of his particular contribution to the child. A question and answer program followed.

Teachers attending were Mrs. Julia Vanden Bergh, kindergarten; Mrs. Buras, first grade; Mrs. Grace Hinkley, 2nd grade; Mrs. Gloria Burke, 3rd grade; Miss Joan Dunn, 4th grade; Clinton Cook, 5th grade; William McGee, 6th grade and principal of Eastover. The two special reading teachers are Mrs. Marguerite Bean and Mrs. Lois Smith.

Coffee and cookies were served at the close of the evening.

On March 14, at 7:00 p.m., the first Boy Scout meeting will take place at Eastover school for all boys 11 years and over, and their dads, who are interested in forming a Boy Scout Troop. Murray Osborn, scoutmaster, will give a talk on scouting.

Mrs. Fred Cornett of Hickory Heights drive entertained at a coffee recently for the new den mothers of Pack B-34 Cub Scouts. The new den mothers are Mrs. James Everett, den 2; Mrs. Glenn Hudler, den 5; Mrs. Thomas Clayton, den 6; Mrs. Thomas Bowman, den 7; Mrs. Eugene Quackenbush, den 8.

Those mothers keeping their dens for the full year are Mrs. Robert Kloor, den 1; Mrs. Robert Brodie, den 3; Mrs. Edward Hopper, Jr., den 4.

Gifts of Rare Foods Suggested for Shower

Bridal showers can sometimes become rather complicated both for hostesses and guests. If the bride-to-be is a very popular person, there will be many showers given for her. Her close friends and relatives may be invited to many or all of them. All of these showers, plus a wedding gift can become a rather expensive ordeal for these individuals.

Likewise, hostesses may be at their wit's end for an idea for a shower that will not duplicate the ones already given.

HERE is a suggestion to solve both problems. Why not give a RARE FOODS SHOWER? Young couples starting out cannot often stock their larder with caviar, shad roe, antipasto, fancy stuffed olives, etc. What bride wouldn't like a nice supply of these rare foods?

It might be fun to make this a couples' shower, inviting the bride and her fiance and guest couples. Cans and bottles of the various foods could be designated "His" and "Hers" to add to the fun.

In your invitation you might indicate what each is to bring to avoid too much duplication. Suggestions of rare foods are: imported tea, anchovies, clams, guavas, shad roe, caviar, plum puddings, breaded foods, cocktail sausages, expensive sardines and rare cheeses. Of course there are many more but this gives an idea of some.

boards and stock it with the rare food gifts.

GIVE the honored couple an envelope of clues and let them go on a treasure hunt through the house. Last clue leads to the cupboard wherein lies their treasure. Let guests follow them on the hunt. Society deadline is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.
