Ensembles Get Subteen Favor

Fashions for subteens this spring feature slim lines, a well-coordinated look and the influence of such adult styles as capes and blouses.

There is an almost endless variety of ensembles. One new-looking combination is that of a sheath jumper teamed with a matching cotton blouse and blending checked jacket. Many costumes consist of a duster coat with several coordinating dresses.

Coats are slim, but not too straight. Neutral tweeds and worsted flannels that can be worn straight through early fall are favored. Many have detachable capes. Bulky knitted coats, especially in red, are also popular. Newsworthy in subteen suits is a poncho cape suit.

Ivy Influence Is Strong In Sportswear

The clothing preferences of Ivy League collegians are exerting a strong influence on the styling of male sportswear for spring.

In slacks, sport shirts and jackets, ideas that grow up on Ivy campuses emerge as even more important style factors than in past seasons. But even with the obvious dominance of Ivy styling, sportswear this spring offers something for just about everybody—and the comfort and color of new sportswear will make going back out into the sun even more fun than usual.

SPRING slacks show a definite Ivy influence, with a trend toward a slim line more obvious. Ivy models are expected to account for a much greater proportion of the slacks sold this spring.

In walk shorts, too, Ivy is important, furnishing a close second to the more popular Bermuda length. White and striped white slacks and shorts are another Ivy idea that has been incorporated in spring styling. Solids should remain most popular, but patterns—particularly plaids and checks—will be in greater demand.

FABRICS will be very diversified, with interest extending thru polished cottons, plaids of wool and the man-made fibers, flannels, gabardines, tropical worsteds and some silks and silk blends. Wash-and-wear fabrics will also come in for more attention.

In sports coats, there will also be a larger selection of fabrics. Silk and silk-cotton blends, all cotton, lightweight wools, linens and linen types, and many other blends will all help to make for a comfortable and fashionable spring.

AS to the styling of spring sports coats, the three-button type is definitely coming into its own at the expense of the two-button model.

Bold patterns, especially plaids, will be shown more frequently. Dark shirts will be few in number as medium and light tones take over.
