

BHS Teens On TV Saturday

Everybody in the show is a teenager—and a talented one, according to the list of Birmingham high school students who will participate in a brand new television show Saturday.

The local teens have been asked to provide one hour of the entertainment on Saturday's program "Teen Time" on WWJ-TV from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m.

The new show for teenagers is a joint effort of WWJ-TV and metropolitan recreation departments. Birmingham and Detroit recreation departments are producing Saturday's show jointly.

CITY RECREATION Director Robert E. Girardin went to Birmingham high school in search of talent. Mrs. Carol Darling, student counselor; Miss Dorothy Allen, faculty advisor for the assembly committee, and Mr. Angulo Angoleci, BHS variety show director, are assisting in getting the program worked out.

It will feature the Calypso group, the Matistas, and exchange students Hedy Haldenstein and Tomasa Fonseca, plus BHS summer exchange students Don Thalacker, Sue Taylor and Fete Brink.

SNAPPED AS THEY prepared to leave on their weekend camping trip last Friday are fifth graders at Lathrup school, students of Mrs. Vera Seymour and Mrs. June Hall. From left are Robert Holley, Lee Nordie, adult assistant Ward Jenks, Buzz Jenks and Rickie Gott. The youngsters, attended by one adult for each five children, camped Friday to Sunday at a camp near Port Huron owned by the Methodist church.

Others tentatively slated to appear Saturday are Dory Rodgers, Anne Parrish, Carl Reynolds, Wendy Ross, Penny Ball, Alice Sawyer, Sandy Traber, Sally Satterthwaite, Nancy Layman, Sharon Bell, Peggy Sheldon, Dawn Karnes, Lucy McBrien, Bill Muenchinger, Harry Affords and Nancy Doherty.

Others are Don Nichols, Dana Vass, Judy Flynn, Bev Ford, Judy Krump, Don Andreas, Bill Harris, Mary Lester, Beth Collins, Sue Beares, Ruth Helmrich, Sharon Byers, Don Nichols, John Hyde, Judy Flynn, Mary Muma, Sue Rippling, Martin Knorr, Dot Green.

Kingswood Column

Friday and Saturday Kingswood's junior class and Cranbrook's Ergasterion will present jointly "East Lynne," an old fashioned melodrama with new implications.

The cast has rehearsed for the past three months under the direction of Miss Barbara Hamel and the Ergasterion director, Mr. Temple Licklider. The melodrama is a classic and incorporates the usual villain, hero, and the fair and tragic heroine into an amusing story involving a murder—and of course, a touching love story.

Lynn Norvell will play Lady Isabel, the heroine; Louis Potter, the villain; and Jim Wagstaff, the hero. Other players are Jill Shallock, Howard Kaufman, Peter Cooley, Caroline Cross, Kathy Kres, Margaret Brandt, Charles Love, Ginny Wood, and Ellen Guest.

Maria VonBarnstorff, Kingswood's foreign exchange student, and Anne Sanders are managing the set committee; Libby Wolfe, Peggy Lydia Moore, publicity; and Mary Horton, costumes.

The students of Miss Grace Emery, Kingswood's piano instructor, gave their spring recital Friday in the school auditorium. The students contributing pieces were: Perry Love, Mary Foren, Ann Leech, Miles Cummins, Valerie Armstrong, Susan Bird, Diana LeBosquet, Mary Malott, Barbara Moran, George Squire, Evelyn Bailey, Susan Sutherland, Mary Falvey, Kristine Gilmartin, Ann Mafford, and Barbara Cooksey.

The Kingswood art department is busily preparing for the Mothers' Day Exhibit. The work of students from the life art, drawing, and weaving classes will be exhibited in the school corridors and will be judged before Mothers' day.
