Emerald Ball Is Benefit For Retarded Children

A majestic treasure chest spilling out precious jewels, and set amid an "underwater" scene, complete with exotic mermaids and brilliantly colored tropical fish will set the theme of the 1957 Emerald Ball Saturday, May 25, at the Lat-in Quarter.

Sponsored by the Detroit Osteopathic Women's club, of which Mrs. Richard Thompson of Bloomfield Hills is president, the ball will benefit the retarded children of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

As guests arrive for cocktails at 7 p.m., their eyes will center upon the lavishly decorated hors d'oeuvres table. A miniature fountain, spouting emerald sprays, will be used as the centerpiece, flanked by ice carvings of fish, poised on the tips of their tails.

Recital Numbers Take Dancers 'Round the World

The ballet, character and ball-room students of Barbara McCall Seaver will present a recital Friday at 8 p.m. at Cranbrook. Following the performance, there will be a reception for students, parents and guests.

"Fun time Special to Anywhere, Anytime" is to be the first of the evening's three acts. It will feature scenes depicting "Down on the Levee", "Up in Central Park" and "Visiting Abroad."

Act two will be "Soda Fountain Crowd, U. S. A." danced by 66 boys and girls from the Quarton and Bloomfield Village classes.

A fifteen minute number "Ballet for Four" performed on pointe by advanced students, will conclude the program. Appearing in this act are Joanne Daino, first soloist, and Francie Quillian, Pamela Swift and Sharon Harrie.

This recital ends the season for Mrs. Seaver's classes. On June 14, she will leave for a summer of study at the Stone-Camryn ballet school in Chicago. Before returning to Birmingham in August, she will also study at the Ellis DuBoulay school under teachers from Sadler's Wells. Her fall classes will begin here September 20.
