HOW WOULD YOU LIKE...

A gay little dancing girl twirling her skirts (let's see, does this one have skirts?). Yes—twirling her skirts in your yard? It is yours for the asking (the asking is a pitifully small amount of dough). But this leads us very simply and directly to the subject or problem or desire or satisfaction of how to develop a really lovely point of interest in your yard.

Be the item made of carved stone, lead, bronze, cast stone or pottery, a careful selection can be made from our stock catalogue to provide a nook in your yard with a decor that will win a blue ribbon in any contest (if we are the judges—say that is an idea!)

Think of a lovely St. Francis statue, a bird bath lined in turquoise, a lead water lily spouting water or the currently popular Boy on a Dolphin (we captured a few which are being kept in big tanks in New York) (in the marine museum) tearing through your own swimming pond!! It's terrific! Let us help you!

IN A DIFFERENT VEIN

(But with the same ulterior motive)

We take great pleasure in announcing the arrival of a whole pile of superb stuff imported from Italy and other states and also quaint little of St. Louis.

This stuff is cheap as dirt, the material from which it is made. The decoration of these cloths which have assumed the form of pots of various sizes has added a trifle to the cost of the original dirt. But we are sincere when we say that they are dirt cheap (except for the decorations). (These artists are a very avid lot.)

They can be a prime source of beauty and contentment and friendly comment in your home, on your porch, at points on your terrace or patio—or, if you can't rise to this tremendous opportunity, on your neighbor's terrace or patio. (Please give our number, Midwest 4-1133, to your neighbor.)

As you prepare to chuck this in the METAL BUSHEL waste BASKETS which we sell—which we have for sale—you might as well know that we are off to Virginia for our daughter's graduation and that Mrs. Robert M. Ball and Mrs. A. Dale Kirk are in Paris, France. They will say the weather is fine there.

SPECIAL:—Adorables to be married this summer: Polly Vliet, Sally Wilkinson, Kathy Berry, Mary Grindley and many others just as adorable but—too numerous to mention at these rates.

BUSINESS MEN & WOMEN!!

Why leave the whole problem of managing our economy to your representatives. Give them the benefit of YOUR THINKING and EXPERIENCE with money, laws, education, agriculture, etc.

YOU ARE IN NO POSITION TO CRITICIZE THEM IF YOU MAKE THEM "GO IT ALONE."

U of M Alumni Day Scheduled for June 14

Friday, June 14, will see a general exodus from Birmingham of U of M alumnae and friends—all headed for Ann Arbor. It's alumni day, but this year has special significance and there are special treats in store.

First, it's the 40th anniversary of the alumni association, and incidentally, 40th reunion day for Mrs. Lewis B. Sappinton of Arlington drive.

SECOND, it brings Margaret Bourke White as speaker for the 12:30 luncheon. Miss Bourke White's skill as a speaker is second only to her skill as a photographer. Enough said!

Thirdly, and this attracting alumnae by the droves, is the campus tour which will follow the luncheon. The university is loaning its fleet of buses, and girls from the honor societies, Scroll, Mortar board, and senior society, will act as hostesses. All are looking forward to this wonderful opportunity of really seeing the new north campus, other changes of recent years, and old familiar landmarks.

THE PROCEEDS of the tour will go to finish Henderson House, the girls cooperative residence, which is a project of the alumnae council.

The event will wind up with tea at President Hatcher's and all will feel like college girls again... Tickets for the tour and luncheon may be obtained from Mrs. Edwin George of Barden road, Bloomfield Hills, or Mrs. Norris Host, 18055 Bedford road, Southfield township.

MRS. Host, retiring president of Birmingham Alumnae, is responsible for this program.

Preceding the luncheon will be the alumnae council meeting and election of officers. Mrs. Russell Strickland of Country Club drive will retire as president of the alumnae council.

Alumnae and guests who would like to join the car pool for transportation to and from Ann Arbor may contact Mrs. Eugene Bychinsky, 468 Argyle, Birmingham.

Already planning to take in this big day are Mrs. E. E. Kintworth, Mrs. S. F. Leahy, Mrs. Leslie Stauffer, Mrs. M. C. Faulman, Mrs. Edwin O. George, Mrs. J. Bird, Mrs. Robert A. Reid, Mrs. Paul Robertson, Mrs. Eugene Bychinsky, Mrs. Tom Evans.

And still others are Mrs. Fred Henry, Mrs. Norris A. Host, Mrs. Glen Carlson, Mrs. Robert Watt.

Mrs. Russell Strickland, Mrs. Wm. Burlingame, Mrs. James Etzogl, Mrs. Marcus Cunningham, Mrs. G. T. Christianson, Mrs. N. D. Alix, Mrs. Stewart Cram and Mrs. Charles Shain.

Village Players Ready New Type Of 'Picnic'

Village Players are producing a Picnic June 8, but it's not Arthur Miller's hit play, nor will it entail the usual mosquito-bite, sprained-ankle, rain-soaked-food hazards of the conventional outdoor frolic.

Free from the vagaries of Nature, Players will enjoy their traditional closing event of the season in a country air atmosphere at the Playhouse. Comfortable in jeans or Bermudas, they can ingest beverages and food while testing their prowess at any of eleven booths featuring fortune tellers, games of skill, and guessing games.

Mrs. William R. Candler is chairman of the Curtain Call Carnival.

The Playhouse will open at 7 p.m. for members and their dates and spouses; at 8:30 a program of skits will precede opening of the booths. The evening will wind up with dancing.

COMMITTEE HEADS include: Mrs. Carl T. Blauman, food; Mrs. Ralph Skinner, prizes and tickets; Mrs. Russell Richardson, entertainment; Robert Keller, construction; William Candler, beverages; Mrs. John Parks, decoration; Mrs. Francis Moriarty, music; Mrs. Charles Shaw, white elephants; Paul Averill, lights, and a full staff of Players will man the booths and the show.

Come rain or shine on June 8, the Players are sure of fun at the Curtain Call Carnival, the civilized way to picnic.

Birthdays, anniversaries, guests, births, parties are all news—call the society editor about them.

Luncheon Guest At DAR Exercise

Mrs. Clarence W. Wacker of Southfield road, Birmingham, will be the luncheon guest of the commandant of the Coast Guard, June 2, at New London, Conn., and will attend the exercises where the outstanding senior of the class will be presented the National award of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The following two days she will be the guest of the commandants of West Point and Annapolis where similar awards will be given to senior men.

To Play Piano

Karen Christiansen and Karen Sidley will play two duets in unison with other music students performing on 200 pianos at Michigan's annual music festival June 2 at Olympia.

Piano pupils of Mrs. J. William Cunningham, the girls are students at Pierce school. Their parents are the George Christiansens of Birmingham boulevard, and the Frank Sidleys of Shipman boulevard.

Adams Village Club Schedules Picnic

At a recent meeting of Adams village extension club Mrs. Harold Ferchland and Mrs. John Hamilton, both of Bowers street, Birmingham, demonstrated the new Nielsen Artificial respiration.

Women on the picnic committee are Mrs. Harold Ferchland, Mrs. John B. Tabb and Mrs. Ernest Brackin. Election of officers will be June 18 at the home of Mrs. Harold Ferchland, 1528 Bowers, Birmingham. Mrs. Louis D'Ambrosio is chairman of the nominating committee.
