

Many Projects Highlight School Year

WING LAKE.—Although school just started in September, the children at Walnut Lake school have been as busy as the proverbial bee making projects of every type and description.

Members of the kindergarten class have been bringing orange crates to class make projects. The making and furnishing of the house in conjunction with their home unit.

Mothers of the first grade were given a preview of the year's work, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Carpenter's second graders are going to be good citizens. They are making up some rules for their room to follow.

The big project in third month in Miss Beemer's second grade will be the study of apples, where and how they grow and how many ways we use them.

A TALENT SHOW was given by the children in Miss Phillips third grade. Cathy Hoff, Kathy Perrin, Meredith Freund, Carol Harrold, and Lois Jones played the piano. Bruce Foster, Keith Hamilton, Stephen, and Mark Russell sang in a quartet.

The children in Mrs. McDonald's third grade have been studying the first unit in their reading books and depicted a scene from each story on a different subject in their room.

Miss MacNeil's fourth graders are making draperies for the windows by using textile painting for design. Paula Oukewich, Patricia Kebabek made the scarves on the wall of the room.

A rock display is on exhibit in Miss Pecha's fifth grade. The young geologists are Marcha Gre-
