

Homeowners Dinner-Dance Is First 'Big' Social Venture

By JOAN DISTLER

Dressed in their best finery, husbands and wives of the Troyton Manor Homeowners Association gathered Friday night for their first "big" social venture, a dinner-dance at Hillcrest Country club. The group hopes this "first" affair will become an annual event.

Party-goers started their evening at cocktail parties given by the Maurice Reardon, the Harry Lippard and the Benjamin Thomas. The women cooperated with the hostesses by bringing in hors-d'oeuvres and other appetizers.

At eight o'clock, the club enlightened the gala couples entered and were greeted by the president of the association and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooker.

Each person donned a name card representing a lamp post and were seated at tables for ten once again decorated with the white lamp posts on stands of white styrofoam. Gaily formally dressed dancing couples made of paper mache and autumn leaves accented the base.

The bandstand carried out the theme with a full size lamp post made by Mrs. John Lohia representing the gala couples entered and were greeted by the president of the association and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooker.

Among the active committee members gathering to fulfill the various assignments were Mrs. Maurice Reardon, Mrs. Howard Ross, Mrs. Harry Lippard, Mrs. Harry Leathers, Mrs. John Ward, Mrs. Arnold Thompson, Mrs. Thomas Urquhart and Mrs. Robert Diabler, under the supervision of David Dougherty.

The Defense Department has ordered pay raises for 360,000 skilled men in the services. Expected annual cost will be $3 million dollars.

Mrs. Pierce Showing New Fall Collection

Birmingham area and Bloomfield Hills fashion minded women are viewing the fall collection of custom costumes now being shown at the shops of Walton-Pierce in Grose Pointe.

MRS. W. R. PIERCE

Mrs. William Rust Pierce has already showed her collection to the ladies of the press who have expressed enthusiastic approval of this particular collection, citing its great variety, versatility and wearability.

WALTON-PIERCE collection is uniquely successful in combining originality of design, exquisite fabrics and perfection of taste to meet the discerning needs of the custom clientele.

In an important sense it is this total combination of talent, skills and standards and the desires of individual customers which distinguish the Walton-Pierce collection.

This fall's collection is a perfect example of their approach to the haute couture. Its primary accent is on versatility and it expresses this purpose most successfully in a superb group of coats skillfully designed to be worn with equal (See COLLECTION, Page 4-F)

Use Lamp Post Theme

A lamp post, similar to those seen in front of many Troyton Manor homes, was used as the theme of the Homeowners' Association dinner-dance Friday at Hillcrest Country club. Among those responsible for planning the social evening are chairmen and their husbands (from left) Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Reardon, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kintworth and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooker, president of the association and his wife. Mrs. R. assisted Mrs. K. as chairmen of the dance.
