

Nothing in our physical environment is of more need and importance than the availability of free atmosphere, from which we get oxygen. There probably have and still exist some who, had they the greedy chance, would seek to achieve ownership of vast quantities of atmosphere, then sell it to human beings.

Newlywed D. G. Harpers Travel to Laurentians

Reflecting the long ago elegance of the Renaissance, a royal gown of crystal white silk satin was worn by Carol Ann Henderson for her marriage to David Grant Harper. Vows were exchanged at a candlelight ceremony Saturday in the First Presbyterian church with the Rev. W. Glen Harris officiating.

Embroidered alencon lace insertion, tracing a rose pattern over ice blue, enriched the squared décolletage of the long sleeved empire bodice. The lace insertion over blue was repeated on flowing panels sweeping down the back of the magnificently full skirt to the very end of the court train.

HER TIRED veil of fine illusion was gathered to a princess cap of pearl tipped satin petals and she carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis, snowflake sweetheart roses and ivy garlands. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wendell Henderson of Sunnydale, Birmingham, and David's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Grant E. Harper of Waterloo, Ont.

UNDERSCORING the old world theme, the attendants were gowned in tea-touching dresses of amber duchess satin, designed with deeply curved necklines, brief shoulder covering sleeves and bell shaped skirts. The slender midriffs were defined with double folds of the satin closing at the back with a wide bow and hem-length streamers.

Barbara Ethel Lee was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. James W. Saine, Mrs. Canute VanderMeer, Nancy Christine Monteth and Janice Klouser.

Mrs. Henderson wore a gold floor length gown with matching hat. The groom's mother chose green and gold land gown with long champagne gloves.

After a reception at Plum Hollow the couple left for Mt. Gabriel club in the Laurentians and Quebec City. Following their honeymoon they will make their home in Montreal.

European Tour

Mrs. Rowell P. Ellis of Hampton road and Mrs. Clara Quinn of Detroit left recently for a six-week tour of Europe. They will return Nov. 14 on the SS United States. While in Paris, Mrs. Ellis will visit with her son, Commander Robert Ellis and his family.

Society deadline is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.
