Experiences Provided On Saskatchewan Trip

By MARION PATRICK

When Sandy Clark heard that two sportsmen were looking for a responsible young man to chauffeur their equipment to Saskatchewan, while they flew up for a bit of duck hunting, he immediately applied for the job, and got it.

He was furnished with a brilliant red station wagon with a duck boat perched on top, and a large number of duck hunting dogs and the innumerable gear duck hunters deem necessary.

Hunting wasn't exactly new to Sandy, as he had been on many such trips with his father, but never to Canada and never alone, but he started out in high spirits.

IT WAS WHILE driving one night on a particularly lonesome stretch of road in northern Canada, that the car light suddenly failed and no amount of tinkering could induce them to go on again.

A 17-year-old, Sandy walked the dogs, returned them to their cage, crawled inside a sleeping bag and promptly went to sleep.

Daylight found him on the way to the nearest garage and a repair job. He arrived on schedule at Battleford to pick up his passengers when they alighted from the plane.

One particularly amusing incident took place as a result of trying to be extra helpful.

Hunting wasn't exactly new to the hunting party early one morning, and they were quietly awaiting a large flock of ducks to decoy Sandy, thinking he could expedite matters, picked up the duck call and blew a resounding blast.

NOT BEING TOO WELL versed in conversing with ducks, Sandy had a panel discussion with the ducks took off in haste. The trip was to Sandy's way of thinking, a wonderful experience.

Group Attends Housewarming

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Morse of Glenway drive had their new home thoroughly "warmed" Friday evening by the Ridgeville Players.

Sixty members of this group assembled at the Wing Lake school at 8:30 p.m. and proceeded, caravan style, to the Morse home.

The guests, in formal dress, did not forget the ingredients for a successful party, but appeared at the door with plenty of food and drinks. Following close behind was a three-piece orchestra which furnished music for dancing throughout the evening.

The committee, who even provided a clean-up detail, were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Philippi, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas L. Jocelyn, Mr. and Mrs.

Truman Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tuller, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Z. Snook.

23 Scouts Return From Proud Lake

Twenty-three scouts of troop B-17, including seven explorers, scouts, left Saturday morning for Proud Lake and an overnight camp-out.

Under the leadership of W. J. Ruth, Scoutmaster and camping chairman, the eagle scouts worked on their camping merit badge, and the other boys worked on first and second class advancement in woodcraft and cooking. The troop returned late Sunday afternoon.

Ruth, with Wm. Springer assisting, is conducting a class for personal fitness. This class is for a four-week period and meets every evening at 6 p.m.

TRIOF B-17 IS ALSO planning their annual pancake supper to be held at Lakeshore house at Kirk-in-the-Hills, the proceeds from this venture to go toward the purchase of boy scout equipment.

Among the other activities planned by the troop is the Court of Honor which will be held at Cedarholm chapel, at the Kirk, Dec. 2.

Clarks Celebrate 20th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Clark, of Apple Lane, celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary by inviting the members of their wedding party for cocktails and refreshments. Joining them were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rowe, of Fort Huron, Dr. Rowe was best man; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cooper, of Huntington Woods. Mrs. Cooper was a bridesmaid and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wareham, of Orchard Lake, Mrs. Wareham was maid of honor.

THE CLARKS HAVE a rather unique method of recording their anniversaries by having a picture taken at the 5th, 10th, 15th and 20th celebrations, with each member of the wedding party occupying the exact place in the picture that they did at the time their wedding picture was taken.

With "Time" supplying a slightly receding hairline and a few extra inches at the waistline, comparison of the pictures this year was cause for a bit of merriment.
