

MR. AND MRS. GUNNAR H. HEMSTROM

Grace Lutheran Church Setting for Marriage

Yvonne Lou Yeager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Yeager of Sunset drive, Lathrup Village, and Gunnar H. Hemstrom of Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hemstrom of Stockholm, Sweden, exchanged rings and vows in the Pontiac Grace Lutheran church.

The Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer performed the Oct. 19 afternoon ceremony in the presence of 150 guests.

For her wedding, the bride chose an Italian white velvet gown with a deep V neckline and a softly rolled stand-up collar. The tightly fitted bodice dipped to a V in the back, and the graceful skirt flowed into a chapel train.

A TWO-LAYER FINGERTIP veil was gathered to a smart white velvet pill box which dipped to a V in the center of her forehead. A white orchid surrounded by stephanotis and ivy was attached to her white velvet muff.

Suzanne Yeager, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore shimmering emerald green velvet with length gown with a deep V neckline in back and full length pointed sleeves.

Cascading from her green velvet muff were sweetheart roses, ivy and pink velvet corded. Her green velvet pill box completed her ensemble.

Wearing identically styled gowns and carrying bouquets similar to the maid of honors were bridesmaids, Mrs. Gordon Blomde and Mrs. Robert Dising, cousins of the bride.

MRS. DISING WAS gowned in a light shade of purple while Mrs. Blomde chose a bright shade of burgandy velvet.

John Stemplowsky was best man. Ushers included Otto Fauth and Charles German, Jr.

The bride's mother chose a dark brown velvet gown fashioned after the bridesmaids, with muff and hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bishop of Warren acted on behalf of the groom's parents who were unable to attend the wedding. Mrs. Bishop's cousin brown gown had three-quarter length sleeves and the scoop neckline was trimmed in lace. Accessories included a matching hat, dark brown shoes and
