How efficient

Can You Get?

used to be that when you walked into a grocery store you either told a clerk what you wanted or handed him your list and he picked up the items you wanted and brought them to the check-out counter. You selected your meat from the case with the help of a butcher and picked out your that we've gone to the other extreme where you do it all yourself. You have to wander through miles of aisles looking for what you want. You have to take the meat as it has been pre-packaged or wait for half an hour for some inexperienced youth who doesn't know sweetbread from a hindquarter to come along and ask you what you want.

Of course the old method was slow and you wasted a lot of time. The new method is efficient FOR THE STORE and has taken the joy out of grocery shopping.

At Peabody's Market you'll find we've struck a happy medium. We have a meat counter staffed by expert butchers, clerks to help you find what you want, and generally a friendly personal atmosphere.

You'll find, if you shop at Peabody's, that we mix a generous portion of personal service along with our serving of real quality foods
