Collectors' Exhibit Planned
 At BAA Gallery

The Bloomfield art association presents its first fall show, "The Collectors' Exhibit—Art to Live With," at the BAA gallery, 3614 N. Woodward, Birmingham. The show marks the first of several events scheduled for the remainder of the year by the newly organized group. The exhibit will open with a reception Friday, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m., and continue through Sunday Oct. 12, weekends only.

CHAIRMEN Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clark Dibble, have selected from private collections in Birmingham-Bloomfield homes approximately 40 paintings and sculpture by top-flight American, European and Mexican artists. The exhibit aims at versatility, to point up the many directions painting and sculpture have taken in recent years. With few exceptions, artists represented are still living and their work available to future collectors.

The BAA hopes that "Art to Live With" will substantially stimulate the art of collecting art, and permit the public to see many fine works of art from private homes that they would not otherwise have the privilege of seeing.

A LIST OF collectors represented follows: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Covey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sallee, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Graddis, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rothman, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Popleck, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Shinnick, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford West, Marianne Strengel, Mrs. Henry Whiting, and Miss Svea Kline.

Baldwin Library
 Story Hour Changes
 To Tuesday Morning

This fall the Baldwin public library is inaugurating a pre-school story hour to take place on a weekday morning, instead of the Saturday morning story hour of previous years.

The pre-school story hour will be held Tuesday mornings from 10 to 10:30 for a six-week period beginning Oct. 1. After Christmas, another series of story hours is planned. Children from three years of age and up will be accepted for registration. There is no charge, but parents are asked to register their children by phone or in person. For further information call the library.
