Bloomfield Hills May Recondition Abandoned School

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Im- mediate reconditioning of the former Hickory Grove school building is being given serious consideration by the Bloomfield Hills school board. The building has not been used since completion last year of the new Hickory Grove school. At their regular meeting Tues- day night, board members heard School Superintendent Eugene Johnson's report that the junior high school's overcrowding is "a very difficult situation." The condition will remain until com- pletion of the new junior high school next year. Johnson said a number of class- es had over 40 students, many more contained 32 or above, and that students were unable to use the school library because it was necessary to hold study halls there. HE SUGGESTED renovation of Hickory Grove school could ease the situation and provide future space for the constantly swelling Hills school enrollments. Appraisers estimate the old school build- ing's worth at $75,000, he said, and have pronounced it structural- ly sound. He said the 200 seventh graders in the junior high school could use the four large classrooms at Hickory Grove school, on Suters lake road east of Woodward. Buses could shuttle pupils to the school, half in the morning, the other half afternoons. Board members asked Johnson to get cost estimates and investigate availability of the four new teach- ers who would be needed. Board Chairman Merrill Bates suggested a special meeting to consider the matter further. JOHNSON ESTIMATED the project would cost a total of $50,000 to $60,000, including teacher salaries, furniture, new furnace and renovation of the school, and bus service. He said the Bloomfield Hills ob- jective is 20 to 25 pupils per ele- mentary classroom, and 25 to 30 in junior and senior high school. In other action, the board gave Administrative Assistant Irving Mendenhall authority to take any ac- tion he considers safe in the sched- uling of school bus stops. Mendenhall said stops on Telegraph road, al- ways avoided previously, would probably be necessary. He added that state law now re- quires that a school bus be visible 500 feet in either direction when- ever it makes a stop, making it difficult to find convenient pick-up spots for students in many sub- divisions. The board also authorized the school's purchase of interest-bear- ing bonds with reserve funds held under the 1954 debt retirement fund.

Harris

(Continued from Page 1-A) HE TALKED TO members of the team of scholars who are piec- ing together the crumbling docu- ments (some fragments no larger than a postage stamp), and translat- ing their Aramaic writings. "Catholic, Protestant and Jewish scholars are working at the tremen- dous task very cooperatively," he said. "It may take 50 years to complete." Timewise, it took the children of Israel 40 years to complete their flight from Egypt. But Dr. Harris flew over the route they journeyed as he traveled from Egypt to Palestine. "I RETRACED THEIR route in two and a half hours," he said. From the plane he took movies of the route. Asked if he took many pictures, he joked, "just a few. About 900 color slides and 1000 feet of movie." He plans to show and discuss the pictures in a series of talks at the church. Along with the pictures and relics he brought back to his church, Dr. Harris brought a message from his first trip to the Holy Land.

HE LABELED HIS sermon for last Sunday, "Good Tidings from Jerusalem." "I saw the land where Jesus preached and healed," Dr. Harris said. "Further proof and reassur- ance—those were the good tidings brought back with me."

Fox, Ben Bagland, Paul R. Reed, Urban U. Woodhouse, Charles Benfroy, Ralph E. Hurt, Wm. P. Hickman, Norman M. James, John D. Burke and W. A. P. John. All are members of St. Anne's guild of St. James Church, sponsoring organization of Town Hall.

This & That

(Continued from Page 1-A) voters place upon the inestimably valuable American right to exer- cise freedom in choosing public of- ficials. Basically, the fault lies with an educational system that miser- ably fails to impact sufficiently upon growing minds to cause them, when adults, to WANT TO VOTE AT EVERY ELECTION... wheth- er it rains or shines! Wayne County CIO and AFL union leaders are having a hard time to merge their two groups. Because CIO has more mem- bers, it wants to have major rep- resentation on the top executive committee of the merged union. The AFL also wants at least equal voice. It is easy to under- stand AFL position, but if it defends majority rule in civic affairs, then why not in union circles? The answer is, of course, one Jimmy Hoffa.
