

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

THE REVEREND CARL BAIRD, of Congregational church of Birmingham, is the recent recipient of a $100 check from the Reader's Digest for an anecdote submitted to the magazine's department "Life in These United States." Reverend Baird's contribution appears in the October issue.

IN OUR ENTHUSIASM to get the news to you last week we mentioned that Mrs. Donald Parry will serve out the remaining three years of the term of Mrs. Elaine Parnie, who resigned a few weeks ago from the Birmingham board of education. Well, we didn't state the situation quite correctly: Mrs. Parry will serve until June of next year, when a special election will be held for the remaining two years of the term. Now we've set the record straight.

BIRMINGHAM'S SECOND ANNUAL civil defense week parade drew more spectators than the first event, this Wanderer estimated. More than a thousand townsmen turned out. And there were several features added this year that brought audience response. Particularly the bleacher seats and the tree cutting demonstration which the parks and forestry crew put on as their equipment went along Woodward and Maple. The Birmingham junior chamber of commerce sponsored and organized the event again this year.

BIRMINGHAM'S WOMAN COMMISSIONER Florence Willett caused surprised looks on fellow commissioners' faces Monday night. She has abandoned her former combed-off-the-forehead style, and gone in the opposite direction—she now has bangs.

TROY—A resolution calling for abandonment of plans for an airport in Sterling township (Macomb county) was passed and will be sent to all local, county, state and Federal offices involved, according to J. Lawson Lockhart, city clerk.
