Pembroke Panic Opens Friday for Fourth Year

Fortune, fun and frolic is the aim of Pembroke PTA tomorrow when at 3:30 p.m. they swing open their portals for the fourth annual panic.

The PTA originated this day for their children to incorporate fun in a place where education is the principal purpose and is also designed to introduce the parents in a school activity.

Mothers have been meeting weeks in advance planning this event. Chairman, Mrs. Frances Morse, under the direction of Ray McPartlin, PTA president, opened her home on many occasions to various committee heads.

EACH GRADE has been assigned a project which they are responsible for making a success. The projects are being supervised by students' mothers. The kindergarten class is being handled by Mrs. Thomas Anderson, Mrs. George Bywater and Mrs. Keith Nesbitt. First grade project is a comic book, bake sale and cake walk under the direction of Mrs. Stan Trevillian.

Second grade with the help of Mrs. James Tree is handling sundries. Handicrafts will be taken care of by Mrs. William Dye and the third graders. Fourth graders have games and rides with Mrs. Harry Lippard supervising. A white elephant sale will be the project of the fifth grade and Mrs. Benjamin Griffith while the sixth graders under Mrs. Walter Lindow are making plans for a spook house and a movie.

THE STUDENTS are now diligently working on posters which will be awarded blue ribbons by the committee.

Mrs. William Mahan has handled the publicity by sending out flyers to the homes which were delivered by the boy scouts. Girl scouts volunteered their services to aid working mothers in taking care of their younger children.
