Seniors met last week and made final preparations for civic control day, a yearly occasion when chosen seniors take over the city government. The commission has been chosen and will select person for other posts.

Debate team members Martin Weinrich, Dory Rodgers, Halsey Carroll and Steve Taylor attended an awards convocation last week. Mrs. Cartwright, Birmingham high English teacher, attended as advisor. Awards were presented by Dr. Macdonald of Wayne State university.

Another debater in the news, Dory Rodgers, won a $100 scholarship at Ann Arbor last week.

Scrubbers' club met Tuesday night to discuss short stories written by members.

The more than 100 members of the senior trip group are back in their old routine after an exciting eight days in Washington and New York. They were very proud when a letter was received last week from a woman who observed the group in Washington. She commented on their excellent conduct and appearance.

The assembly included a cover demonstration, a dramatic presentation, a Philippine folk dance and an exhibition of the standing high jump.

Various home-rooms are sponsoring bake sales, car washes, and other projects in order to raise money. The greatest competition has arisen in the junior home-rooms raising the largest amount of money will have the foreign exchange students in their rooms next year.

There will be a record hop Saturday with proceeds going to the drive.

THE DRIVE will end Monday. It is hoped that $12,000 will be raised.

The money will be used to bring two AFS students to Birmingham next year and will also help the summer program in which one or more students from Birmingham are sent to Europe for eight weeks.
