

'Pembroke Panic' Draws Many Children, Parents

It seemed as though almost everyone attended the "Pembroke Panic" at the Pembroke school Friday. The affair, aimed primarily to interest youngsters, drew plenty of them and their parents also.

Many Fathers detoured from the commuter train and others in the neighborhood knew where to find mother and children, even at dinner time when many took advantage of eating dinner in the school cafeteria.

In charge of the affair was Mrs. Frances Morse. Each schoolroom had classmothers in charge of a project or a game. Every child seemed to win a prize. Ray McPartlin, PTA president, said most of the proceeds from the event will be used to buy television sets for the Birmingham board of education was accepted in channel 57.

One of the biggest events was a poster contest in which all children participated. The judges for the two groupings were Walt Ecker, Dale Smith and Hal Adams with Miss Rosalie Rosetti, the art teacher, as their assistant.

Winners in the higher grade group were Susan, 4th grade, Doug Fehan, 5th grade, and Brian Morse, 5th grade. Lower grade winners were Jack Klenow, 1st grade, Minta Morse, 2nd grade and Charl Greene, 1st grade.

Mrs. William Andrews, 2793 Windemere, entertained neighbors at a dessert-bridge recently. Seated at the two tables were Mrs. Robert Andrews, Mrs. Fred Wieman, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Robert Leavens, Mrs. Willesly J. Mast, Mrs. Winston Terrie and Mrs. Robert Thelan.

The guests arrived in time for dinner and included Martin Cato, Diane Young, Mary Jo Hibbert, Pam Miner, Cathy Miner, Bruce Winfield, Jimmy Sauer, Jimmy Boyce, Johnny Mara and Karen's brother, Steve.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craig, 1714 Withersbee.

Residents on Derby road will miss Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seuburger and children, Rick, 8, Carol, 6, and Sue, 2, when they move to happy with the news of her two new playmates.

A neighborhood desert bridge was on the agenda recently at the home of Mrs. Wesley J. Mast, 2412 Windemere.

Guests included Mrs. Frank Ward, Mrs. Paul Wilson, Mrs. Harold Brown, Mrs. Donald Pennell, Mrs. Kenneth Menner, Mrs. Eric Weinman and Mrs. John Dowling. The group engaged one woman to sit with all the children preschool age.

Four seventh grade students from Derby Jr. high school spent one day of their Easter vacation touring the state capital.

The foursome included Sylvia Krause, Barbara Beck, Maureen Johnson and Christie Telford. After their tour the girls enjoyed lunch on at a Lansing hotel.

Mr. E. W. Telford of Derby road, performed the duties of chauffeur for the young ladies.

Mrs. Robert Sims, 1641 Withersbee, entertained for bridge group recently in her home.

Present for the two tables were Mrs. Ford Hanes, Mrs. William Dye, Mrs. Paul Nelson, Mrs. Robert Welch, Mrs. Richard Benson, Mrs. William Voigt and Mrs. Robert Dyer.

Some women from the Troston Manor area were invited to the home of Mrs. Benjamin Hoeses, of Derby, for a dessert-bridge.

Playing at the two tables were Mrs. Robert Eriesner, Mrs. John Ward, Mrs. Howard Ross, Mrs. Barry Runkel, Mrs. Thomas Schulze, Mrs. Granville Barker, Mrs. William Voigt and Mrs. Robert Distler.

A trip to Tomsville, Ga., was taken recently by Mr. and Mrs. James Trow, 1655 Withersbee, and children, Martha, Jimmie, and Mary Susan.

Trow took advantage of his time in the area to do some scouting for the Olinde baseball team who have their minor league training camp there.

Side trips were taken to Panama City, Fla. and Moultrie, Ga., where they formerly lived and were entertained and visited old friends.

On their return trip they were houseguests of William Gladen in Louisville, Ky., where Gladen took the children to visit the TV studio where he works and showed them the procedure of running a show.

Another monthly bridge club held their gathering Thursday in the home of Mrs. Donald Hibbert, 1201 Withersbee.

Present were Mrs. Robert Kauf-

Vision Training Set for Alums

Mrs. Florence Cunningham, R.N., of the national society for the prevention of blindness, New York City, was in Birmingham for three days to train part of the Birmingham Alumnae chapter of Delta Gamma in the techniques used in pre-school vision screening.

The group to be trained met with Mrs. Cunningham Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. H. Holt of Overhill road, Bloomfield village, to discuss the program and problems involved.

The vision screening program is to be the Birmingham chapter's contribution to the Delta Gamma national project of sight conservation and prevention of blindness. It is hoped that this program will help in the detection and early treatment of eye disorders in pre-school children of Birmingham.
