

Fertilizing . . .
 It is advisable to give strength to grasses, help keep roots vigorous. More and more folks are finding it well worthwhile to feed monthly, reports the researchers.

Lawn's 1st Summer
 Weed seeds are present in almost every soil. They sprout readily and grow vigorously to choke out large portions of the new lawn unless cleared out by a program of control.

Watch Your Rolling
 Improper lawn rolling can seriously damage soil structure. If planning to roll the lawn this spring, be sure lawn is firm. Rolling soggy or spongy lawn tends to compress the turf, making it impervious to water. It also damages soil circulation.

Quarion Principal Attends Workshop
 EAST LANSING — Grant W. Barber, 629 Pierce, Birmingham, principal at Quarion elementary school, attended an elementary school principalship workshop in education held this month at Michigan State university.

The session was one of 18 two and three-week programs offered by the MSU college of education in which teachers and administrators studied current trends in education while obtaining graduate-level credit toward advanced degrees.

General problems and procedures connected with teaching and special problems of immediate interest to participants were taken up in seminars, lectures, group discussions and field trips.

Local Man to Teach Retail Ed Course
 David J. Finneran, 1842 Maryland Blvd., Birmingham, will teach a course this fall in the program in retail education sponsored by Wayne State university and the university of Michigan.

The program, which is part of the division of adult education sponsored jointly by the two universities, was developed with the aid of Detroit retail merchants association to provide a strong and varied series of evening courses for both retailing employees and retailing management.

 have possibly done to warrant an arrest of any kind, much less all those men and ammunition. They were taken to jail.

There they found the reason for their incarceration. That morning a bank in Grand Rapids was robbed. The bandits fled in a black Cadillac similar to the Alma team's vehicle. The robbers were seen heading rapidly toward the outskirts of town. Naturally the boys were the easy suspects, and they couldn't convince the authorities otherwise.

THEY FELT that eventually their innocence would be proved, but what about the game? If only they could find someone to prove them innocent. Luckily, one of the boys remembered that the brother of the sports writer for Alma was a Grand Rapids attorney.

They telephoned him, and after four suspenseful hours they were released. When they reached their destination finally, the game was about to start. They quickly got into their uniforms and played the
