

It probably is true, as many philosophers have said, that women can exert more influence upon the yearnings and hungers and goals of men than men can upon women. Thus, they argue, women possess greater power over men, and can chart them to the high or the low road, or just some place in between. Most men, thinking upon this subject, admit it truth.

First Nighters

As the crowd thronged to the premier opening of Kingsley Inn at the new location—it can well be a night to remember as "Who's Who in Society".

Among guests arriving in white jackets and cocktail dresses were such notables as the Murray D. VanWagoners, Senator and Mrs. Harvey Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hart, the James E. Haggertys, Mr. and Mrs. Spike Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs, III.

Still others were the Milton F. Coussons, the Curtis Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Pease, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stark, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bordinat, the Drew C. Hanelines, the James Sweeneys, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lewis . . . and many more.

As "Amy and Nick" Takis arrived in a carriage, after locking up the old Kingsley Inn, to beckon the guests inside, a helicopter landed, carrying Don McLeod and Clark Reid, WJBK announcers.

THE FOYER was graced with four-foot high ice-sculptures, enhanced by colorful bowls of fruit, turkey and other goodies.

There were white belmont gardenias for the ladies and carnations for the men.

Guests enjoyed dancing in the cotillion room to the music of the "Kingsley Coachmen" under the direction of Joel Nash, following the dinner.

The gourmet menu . . . a nine course dinner . . . included filet mignon bouillabaisse, Caesar salad, champagne sherbert and French pastries.

Souvenir menus were on kelly green and gold cards accented by tassels and bearing a crest. The same motif was carried out in the dishes and the Kingsley silverware is also marked by the crest.

AS THE STROLLING musician entertained at individual tables, guests admired the turkey red carpeted stairway, wandered to the piccadilly bar downstairs, the Village club upstairs and the Empire room, accented with a Venetian glass chandelier . . . Mr. and Mrs. Takis were in a little town outside Venice a few years ago and watched the glass being blown for the chandelier. After the purchase, the Empire room was built around that theme.

Luxuries displayed on the premiere evening are now being enjoyed daily by guests at the new location, plus the world's first stereophonic remote broadcast on a regularly scheduled basis from noon until baseball time.

Pennies Count

Three young girls, ages 9, 11 and 12, spent a week preparing for a fair, for which they had make-up tables, fish ponds, bowling, ping pong and musical chairs.

The young ladies charged two and three cents for the games with prizes for each, plus free soft drinks and popcorn.

Their "take" . . . two dollars . . . in pennies and nickels . . . was sent to CARE.

Responsible for this venture were Gloria Simpson, Lynn Watson and Barbara Watson, and the event took place at Gloria's home, 444 West Lincoln.

'Big Splash'

The Detroit Boat club will have its "big splash of the year" the second annual Aqua Follies Ball . . . and many Birmingham area families are planning to attend.

So far there are 850 reservations in, with a waiting list of 100 . . . which calls for extra dance floors, outdoors—and, special docking facilities for boating parties.

DURING the cocktail hour guests will be entertained by a water show featuring Olympic diving stars, Jeane Simayo and Barbara Elkhart, and a popular water comedy act, followed by a pageant depicting highlights of the club's history.

Next, the rowers, who recently won the national championship, will present their bronze trophy to the club. In return, they'll be given a four-man shell for the next Olympic and the American games.

A buffet supper will be served beside the pool, followed by dancing to the Glenn Miller orchestra, now directed by Ray McKinley.

MR. AND MRS. Harry W. Grikseheit will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Troutman and daughter, Marilyn, who are visiting from Elkhart, Ind. . . also, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Staley, Mrs. H. Carmine and Gary Grikseheit.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Dodge will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Doetschman, Mr. and Mrs. James V. White.

Other boat club members planning to attend the Follies are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Mullen and Mr. and Mrs. Tyler.

'Alpha Night' Dinner Dance

It will be Hawaiian in every way possible from the informality of dress . . . anything from sport shirts to grass skirts . . . to the food . . . direct from the island with a short pause in the kitchen of Forest Lake country club, that is . . . as well as gaily decorated rooms, tables and terrace at the club.

Guests will also be lulled in an atmosphere of tropical paradise by one of Hawaii's own musicians . . . complete with ensemble and real live dancing girls, comes August 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fields, serving on the committee for this party, still have fresh memories of a wonderful time on the islands, having returned just a few months ago. They are attempting to recreate the atmosphere.

Also on the committee are chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graves, Mr. and Mrs. F. DeRango, Mr. and Mrs. E. Goyeau, the Tuohys and L. Llewellyns.

PRECEDING this great event will be ladies monthly luncheon and card party "Water Wonderland" featuring fashions by club member models from the Helen VanCamp shop.

Committee members include Mrs. Martin Hoover, Mrs. Harry Ford, Mrs. Ward Stoddard, Mrs. Elroy Sandberg, Mrs. Fred Canning, Mrs. Roy Potvin and Mrs. Ford Ritner.

Membership Open for Musicians

Musicians interested in becoming members of Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, which has announced plans for five concerts with prominent guest soloists for the 1958-59 season, are invited to contact Mrs. Arthur R. Welton, 286 Blvd. Birmingham, recruitment chairman.

The 70-piece orchestra, which has completed five successful seasons, will again be directed by Francesco Di Biasi of Detroit. Cecilia Morrill Turner is associate conductor.

THE ORCHESTRA draws both musicians and listeners from a wide area in Oakland and Wayne counties. Birmingham is now represented by Albert Van Penner, 24769 Edgemoor, and Arthur Welton, both B'ham.

Immediate past president of the board of directors is Richard Poole, 28935 Westbrook Parkway, Birmingham. Concerts this season will be given in a new 1000-seat auditorium at Pontiac's Northern high school building, now being completed.

THE FIRST concert is scheduled for Oct. 14 when Mascha Meschko, violinist, will be soloist. Players of any orchestral instrument are asked to contact Mrs. Welton to arrange for an audition. The greatest demand for new musicians is in the string section.

Visits Birmingham For Wave Convo

Mrs. Keith Sleeper and her daughter Barbara of Newberry spent a few days last week in Birmingham at the home of Mrs. Sleeper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wangerberg of Pierce street.

The special occasion was the national wave convention at the hotel Sheraton-Cadillac, where Mrs. Sleeper enjoyed reunions with many of her wave friends and acquaintances.

Two other reunions were in her honor. Mrs. Richard Gibson had a meeting of their former Marine group and an Olivet college classmate had a get together of many Sigma classmates.

THE BRIDE'S gown was fashioned of silk tulle featuring seed pearls on neckline with beaded lace to match securing a fingertip veil. A bouquet of white roses and carnations completed the bridal picture.

Sandra Ann Lacey was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Patricia Seifrid, Mrs. Richard Bishop and Mary Ann Gardner.

ATTENDANTS were gowned in pastel shades organza gowns with matching picture hats and bouquets of mums.

William D. Masters was his brother's best man. Seating the guests were Jerry Beers, Pete Rosborough, Vic Shaheen, Carl Vogel and Dick Bishop.

Mother of the bride selected a gown of light blue lace and Mrs. Masters chose a blue lace dress over tulle.

IMMEDIATELY following an evening reception at the Knights of Columbus, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon to Northern Michigan. The new Mrs. Masters changed to a beige linen dress with white accessories for traveling.

Upon return, Mr. and Mrs. Masters will reside in Bentley.
