Along the Sidelines with Bill Arthur

His close friends and associates called him "Sal." Everybody else called him Mr. Salsinger.
It seemed the only proper way to address the white-haired gentleman with the ramrod spine and the stately walk.
To a mere copy boy, (and everybody else), he was THE sports editor of the Detroit News and when he called for a boy, there were three or four headed for the door to his office.
Many called him crusty and gruff, but this writer can never remember when he was anything but kindly to anyone he met.
He could be spotted a city block away for he always had a long black cigar in the corner of his mouth and the clouds of smoke he left behind were almost a signal.
When the first edition rolled off the press, the item most of the people read was "The Umpire" column with the byline of H. G. Salsinger.
His "Umpire" column was syndicated and was known from coast to coast.
The last writing he did was during the last world series when he came out of retirement temporarily to give his views of the clash between the Yankees and the Braves.

Country Day Invades Oak Park Gym Today

With only two days of practice under their belts, Detroit Country Day's Yellowjackets will invade Oak Park this afternoon in the basketball opener for both squads.
One of two area squads that will see action tonight, Country Day will play its first and only game during the month of December this afternoon at 3:30.
Coach Dan Halling will probably alternate his 15-man squad during the game in order to find the right niche for each player.
Newcomers are expected to fill the gaps at center and forward with Junior Dick Billard, freshman Bob Parrish and Junior Denny Roosa getting most of the attention thus far.
The two tallest members of the squad, Billard, who stands 6'8", and Roosa, a 6'3" youngster, have yet to see action in a game.
If the newcomers develop early enough in the season Detroit Country Day must be considered as a contender for Central-Suburban honors.
A SOPHOMORE, Jerry Jaffe, has also caught the eye of the coach during the two practices and is making a move toward one of the guard slots.

Recreation Round-Up

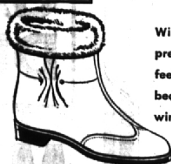

This is your last chance to enter the slim trim class, ladies.
The new classes will be conducted by the recreation department every Thursday evening from 7-8 p.m. at Torry school gym.
The cost is only $10 and the workouts will help your figures.
Wednesday is the last day to register and you should contact the recreation department in the Municipal building for further information.

A basketball meeting for all adult basketball team managers will be held tonight in the recreation office in the Municipal building.
The meeting will finalize plans, schedules, rules and regulations for operation of the league.

The adult swimming period is still being held every Monday at Birmingham high school pool and the charge is only 75 cents.
Adults are allowed to use the pool from 7:30 p.m. till 10 p.m. every Monday.

This program is held in conjunction with the adult recreation (See ROUNDUP, Page 6-A)
