Cathedral Train Accents Ivory Satin Sheath Gown

A candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian church of Birmingham, and reception at the Birmingham Country club were the settings for the wedding of Helen Holt Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reeves of Huntington Woods, and Walter F. Overhardt of Birmingham. He is the son of the Kenneth Dairty's of St. Clair Shores.

The bride's gown, a floor-length ivory satin sheath, had an empire-design bodice and long sleeves of alencon lace embellished with seed pearls. A shroud of veiling from the low-cut extended beyond the cathedral-length detachable train of ivory satin. She carried a cascading bouquet of ivory roses and stephanotis.

HELEN was attended by Stephens classmates Karen Postel and Lucinda Turner, both of San Francisco, Doris Blackwell of Mount Pleasant and Mildred Lalle of Birmingham. Their beige sheath gowns were lace over tulle, with bouffant tulle overskirts. Beige caps simulating bows completed their ensembles, and they carried colonial bouquets of deep-brown Fuji chrysanthemums.

Flower girl, Tamara Baldwin, wore an empire beige tulle dress garnished with beige lace, and carried a nosegay of the Fuji mums.

THE BRIDE'S brother, George, was best man, and Louis was ring-bearer. Groomsmen included Rolf Amundson, Stan McFarland, John Webber and William Amundson.

Mrs. Reeves was attired in a navy silk lace gown over a kelly-green tulle skirt. Her purse, corsage was pink miniature roses. Out-of-state guests included S. A. Mead of California, and Sandra Phillips Clarke and James Horne, a man of Chicago.

Ladies Display Handiwork For Forthcoming Bazaar

St. Jane de Chantal's Guild from Holy Name church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. James Carey, 1814 Witherbee road, Troyton Manor.

A short business meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Richard Morrison, after which the ladies displayed their handiwork items they have been working on for the past few months.

The items such as Christmas tree skirts, novelty hand towels, bottle covers and children's hand knit hats will be sold at a forthcoming bazaar at the church on Dec. 5 and 6.

Members present were Mrs. Maurice Reardon, Mrs. Thomas Schulte, Mrs. Dorothy Oldani, Mrs. Robert Gorman, Mrs. Judd Decker, Mrs. Hugh Suofy and Mrs. William Cronin.

The ladies are urged to bring canned goods to the December 8 meeting for the gift baskets for the needy.

The Donald Nason of 925 Northwick road, celebrated Thanksgiving in a joyous manner. They entertained Mrs. Nason's family for dinner. At the door to greet their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Walby were Lynn, Jack, Karen and twins, Pat and Mike.

Other guests were Rita Walby, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Walby and children Patrick, Phillip, Stephen, Joan and Joyce and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walby.

The day had a doubly festive meaning for the Leonard Walbys for they were also celebrating their wedding anniversary.

It's a baby girl for the Earl Hines' of 1865 Derby road. They proudly announce Sara Lee's arrival on Oct. 17 and weighing 6 lbs., 8 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mackey of Rochester, Mich.

Mrs. John Kleene, 1872 Derby road, entertained her neighborhood bridge club recently.

Seated at the three tables were Mrs. Allan Diebold, Mrs. James Germain, Mrs. Coyle Fisher, Mrs. Claude Phelps, Mr. Richard Monteth, Mrs. James Dadda, Mrs. Franklin Benz, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Charl Greene, Mrs. Edward Gabert and Mrs. William Talbot.

After an evening of cards the ladies made plans for a needy family.

Thanksgiving was a delightful day for the Daglin Livingstons of 2550 Pembroke. They had as their houseguests for the holiday Mrs. Livingston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Snyers, who motored here from Westfield, N. J.

The three Livingston children, Sheryl, Lori and Bruce especially enjoyed seeing their grandparents.

Johnny Mara, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mara, Jr., was a very excited youngster on Nov. 28 when he greeted a few of his school friends who arrived to help him celebrate his seventh birthday.

Using a circus motif for the party, the children played such games as pin the tail on the lion before dinner. The cake, which was decorated by Mrs. Mara was a carousel with animals, flags and topped with seven candles.

Guests were Joe Lindsay, Tom Kendall, Chris Roebuck, Danny and Jimmy Boyce, Janie Barnes, Martha Strash, Gary Varga, Paul Chew and Johnny's sister, Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penninger, 1011 Witherbee and children Peggy, Willie and Kathy spent Thanksgiving with their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Whalen of Detroit.

Mrs. Penninger centered her table with a fall arrangement of yellow and bronze mums. Yellow tapeas gave an added festive touch.

After dinner they spent a quiet evening together with guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Guinn.

The Troyton Manor Homemaking Extension group from Michigan State university met recently in the home of Mrs. Amos Hedgecock, 1884 Witherbee road, Troyton Manor.

A lesson the making of wills was given by Mrs. Hedgecock and Mrs. Edward Gabert. Other members present were Mrs. Donald
