

S'field Democrats Elect New Officers

SOUTHFIELD—James M. Ginn was elected president of the Southfield Democratic club at the group's annual meeting Jan. 28.

Other officers are Mrs. S. J. Clark, vice-president; Alex. Bohrerick, treasurer, and Mrs. James Ginn, secretary.

Trustees named are Donald I. Swanson, Hurst Drendel, Lionel Hilton, Verne Pickford, S. J. Clark and Edward Drendel.

James M. Hare, Michigan secretary of state, discussed the problem of the uninsured motorist in Michigan. He said several bills would be submitted to the state legislature to solve the problem.

Bloomfield Is Third In Building Permits

Bloomfield township ranked third in Oakland county in building in 1957, county authorities have announced. The number of building permits in the Detroit area had a 21 per cent drop in 1956.

The nation as a whole slumped also, 7 per cent, according to the labor department.

Bloomfield township issued 440 permits in 1957, compared to 833 the year before. Only Madison Heights and Royal Oak topped the Bloomfield total.

Braves Tour Willow Run

VALLEY WOODS—Since civic affairs required fathers in attendance fell on Indian Guide meeting nights, the Fox Tribe pushed their date together this month. All big and little braves had the opportunity recently of going on a guided tour by United Airlines at Willow Run airport.

First the receiving of weather reports and messages on teletype was shown. Then a trip on the baggage conveyor took them to a cockpit of a DC-7 Mainliner which had just landed from New York, preparing to take off for Chicago.

From here a station wagon took them to a Convair Mainliner where each little brave was a "co-pilot". The instrument panel was explained and "co-pilots" were allowed to work certain instruments.

Lunch at the cafeteria topped off the morning.

LITTLE Whispering Woods and Big White Cloud (Kenny and Bud) were the stars of the evening. In their tepee Friday evening, Indian stories, games and the Fox Tribe song led by Big Flying Hawk (Leon Nelson) made up the Pow-wow.

Lathrup Considers Food Ordinance

LATHRUP—A final draft of the Lathrup food ordinance has been given to attorney Everett Hayes. Designed to cover food handling and sanitation where food is sold, prepared and served, the ordinance faces final reading at the next council meeting.

Councilwoman Elizabeth Mitchell who presented the ordinance to the council explained that a council officer would serve Lathrup as public health officer and make periodic inspections.

Present Lesson

EST SOUTHFIELD—Southfield Woods extension group will have their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Avery of Royal Oak. Mrs. Frank Osborn and Mrs. Norman Glaser will present the lesson for the evening "House Plants and Flower Gardens".

Dimes March Sets Record in S'field

SOUTHFIELD—A record $6,300 has been collected by the March of Dimes here, and the canisters in business places haven't been collected yet. Mrs. Harold R. Schallert and Mrs. Elmer G. Porman, co-chairmen of the drive announced the total Monday.

The sum includes special gifts, collections in the township schools and more than $5,000 collected by the "mothers march."

Mrs. Porman said last year's drive netted $4,600, including the canisters.

Guests Celebrate Debra's Birthday

Three-year-old Debra Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Januzzi, Jr., of Spring Arbor, celebrated her birthday by having 10 little girls as guests for her party.

Individual cakes with candles were served, and games were played. In the evening the Januzzi's had a family buffet dinner for 20.

Woodcreek Wants To Sand Ice Roads

WOODCREEK FARMS—The village council Tuesday asked Road Administrator Donald Wells to see if he could find money to sand or salt the icy roads in the village. No money has been budgeted for this purpose.

Norman Sey told the council that Village Lane near his home was so icy that his wife was unable to negotiate the hills and curves.

Councilman H. A. Dobson said an unidentified car had skidded and sheared off shrubs on his property worth $100.
