By VIRGINIA COLE

With February in the immediate offing, some of you may be scheduling a shower for a bride-to-be. In that case, you don't consider a Hearts and Diamonds Shower?

Many a young couple marries and find themselves without a card table, cards, coasters, a hot tray, card table linens, a hot tray, etc. A shower of this kind would fully equip them with these accessories and be greatly appreciated.

YOU MIGHT write the following invitation:

Dear _____
This is your original bid to a shower and card party. So please be a trustee, don't dare to renege.
Come at two and play the game thru.
Honor guest is name of bride-to-be.
With hearts and diamonds her long suit.
The date is _____
According to Hoyle, no substitutes.
Please bring as your shower gift something used on a card table. No bride can fulfill her contract you know without a few coasters, playable.
Have a new deal, play a winning hand or two.
And the friendliest welcome is extended to you.

AT THE TIME of the party, to present the gifts to the bride-to-be, an old-fashioned corsage with a colorful cascade of hearts, diamonds, spades and clubs falling from it on ribbons would be fun.

To make this you'll need one bouquet of red and white flowers, one large white paper doily for the frill, a pack of very small playing cards, five yards of red satin baby ribbon, a few average-size playing cards and plain white writing paper.

CUT SMALL sheets of white paper the exact size of the small playing cards. Hold a pair of these cards back to back, faces toward the outside and slip a sheet of white paper between them.

Punch a hole through all three at top center and fasten them together with a strip of the red ribbon. The other end of the ribbon is, of course, attached to the corsage. Ribbons should be of varying lengths.

ON EACH of the blank white papers between the pairs of small playing cards is written a question pertaining to the bride. The answer is written on the face of an ordinary playing card. Answer cards are attached to each gift.

Questions might be:

1. A bride, what must you have?

HEART TIE-DIES

2. What was your first proposal?

AN ORIGINAL BID

3. What is your idea of romance?

IDEAL

4. What gift-over on your honeymoon, what will you do?

RUBBER

5. What will you expect your husband to be?

GAME

6. What will you at all times need?

YOUR PARTNER'S SUIT

7. To be sure, what would you do?

HEARD A HEART

8. What do you most treasure?

A DIAMOND

9. What will you both promise to do?

10. What kind of husband do you want yours to be?

THE PROSPECTIVE bride is presented with the corsage. The hostess then suggests she take, one at a time, a small question card from the corsage and read the question aloud. She then goes to the gift table and selects a single gift to which is attached the card that, in her opinion, answers the question.

Following bridge for the afternoon, you might serve tomato-crab salad, heart and diamond sandwich, ripe olives, salted almonds and coffee.
