

What a most worthwhile virtue is that of showing in word and action, appreciation for the kindnesses from others. Do not too many of us accept the thoughtfulness of others as a mere casualness of manner like the daily selection of "good morning"?

SECTION B

Family To Sail For Paris

"I'm crazy about it" was three-and-a-half year old Martha Fulton's reaction when asked what she thought about going to Paris.

She will travel with her parents, the James Fultons of Orchard Hill drive and one-and-a-half year old brother, James, Jr.

Fulton has accepted a position in Paris with Compagnie Americaine de l'Esthétique Industrielle—that is the Raymond Loewy European office, a firm in the industrial design. Fulton will be assistant manager and director of design. He was formerly associated with Harley Earl, Inc. in Centerline.

THE FULTONS left Birmingham Saturday and will visit with their families in Ohio, the A. Franklin Fultons of Cleveland and the C. R. Walbridge of Toledo, before their departure.

Sailing from New York on the 10th on the United States, they will arrive in LeHavre five days later. Fulton's position will keep him there at least two years.

THE TRIP will be a first for all except Mrs. Fulton, who has been there as a tourist and is looking forward to the new experience.

Besides being crazy about the idea—Martha thinks there will be lots of different things to play with. Already brushing up on her French, young Martha commented, "When I don't know what the kids are saying to me, I'll just say 'merci boucoup!'"

To Illustrate World Travels With Slide Films

Kingsley Inn will be the site of the luncheon meeting of the South Oakland chapter of Alpha Chi Omega Saturday at 1 p.m. Mrs. W. Lee of Birmingham will be the chairman for the event.

Program will feature Mrs. Grace Reilly of the Birmingham Travel service, who will speak about her trip around the world. She will illustrate her adventures with slide films taken during the trip. Mrs. Reilly will also relate some of the pleasures and problems of running a travel agency.

February meeting of the Alpha Chi will be the private benefit card parties for cerebral palsy. Anyone interested in giving a bridge, canasta or pinocle party should contact Mrs. William Hans, 1808 Maryland boulevard, Birmingham.

MR. AND MRS. James Fulton and children, Martha and Jimmy, will depart this month for new headquarters in Paris.

Dr. D. B. Ireland Speaker at School

Bloomfield village school will have its regular monthly meeting Monday at 8 p.m. Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, superintendent of Birmingham public schools, will speak on "Structure of the Birmingham public school system."

Copies of the revised by-laws will be distributed at that time so a vote may be taken at the Feb. 2 meeting. Refreshments will be served by the fourth grade room mothers, Mrs. Marvin Melesky and Mrs. Richard Straight.

Women's Club Plans Bridge Party

Mrs. Melvin J. Deer of Arzel road, chairman project for Birmingham Woman's club had a meeting in her home Friday for the project chairman of the different departments.

They discussed plans for their annual bridge party for Girls Town and other civic projects, which will be Feb. 12 at Northland Hospital, City House.

Seating on the committee are Mrs. E. D. Shores, Warren Pratt, Mrs. Matthew Cammareri, Mr. Ralph Mann and Mrs. Lester E. Holt.

MRS. FRANK W. MULHOLLAND

Bride and Attendants Wear Gowns of Velvet

Katherine Jane Hall and Frank Wright Mulholland exchanged rings and vows at 8 o'clock Saturday in Christ Church Cranbrook. Given in marriage by her grandfather, Charles W. Sweet, the Rev. David DeWindt officiated.

Katherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kibler of Bloomfield Hills and Frank is the son of Mrs. Frank J. Mulholland of Birmingham.

THREE INCHES of pearled lace accent the scoop neckline of the velvet bridal gown with graceful folds of the skirt falling into a chiral train. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearled lace headress and she carried white poinsettias on a prayerbook.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Charles W. Reetenwal III, was best man. Others were Brian Sanft, Ray Kassabian, Earl Brisenden and Robert Streib.

MARJORIE Lee Pound and Virginia Mae MacLean, both of Bloomfield Hills, were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaids were Marilyn Mitchell and Bonnie Goddard.

Their frocks were identical to the honor attendant's except for a matching green satin sash. Linda Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jensen, was flower girl.

CHARLES W. Reetenwal III, was best man. Others were Brian Sanft, Ray Kassabian, Earl Brisenden and Robert Streib.

Zonta Club Meeting

Zonta club of Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills will start the new year with a dinner meeting at Birmingham Community House Monday at 7 p.m. Sarah VanHousen Jones, traveler and lecturer from Rochester will be guest speaker, and will take the members on a trip "Around the World in 109 Days."

Engagement of College Seniors Announced at Dinner Party

The engagement of Paula Louise Jones of Bloomfield Hills, to Frank H. Duffy of Birmingham, was announced Saturday night at a dinner party for members of the families and close friends at the Dearborn Inn, Dearborn.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Jones of 5051 Beach road. Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Duffy, 85 Manor road. Frank was one of the four Olympian Equestrian team which competed in Stockholm, Sweden in 1956. His father is group vice president of Ford Motor company.

Paula is in her senior year of nursing at St. Carmel Mercy hospital, Detroit, and Frank is a senior in the Engineering School, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The wedding is planned for mid-August, after Paula and Frank complete their current studies.

T. Mel Roberts Tour the Orient For Three Months

By SHIRLEY ADAMS

A childhood dream became a reality for Mrs. T. Mel Roberts of Yosemite road in October when she left for the Orient with her husband.

As a youngster, Mrs. Roberts acquired an interest in Oriental customs when she saw a Chinese mandarin in the home of one of her girl friends. Through the years, she has collected many interesting items, studied oriental symbols and legends and has lectured to various organizations.

"MY HUSBAND AND I decided to visit the Orient now instead of waiting a few years," said Mrs. Roberts, "because we believe that in the near future these countries will become completely westernized."

Honolulu, Manila, Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand and Cambodia were among their scheduled stops. "The warmth of their friendliness and hospitality impressed us during our entire trip," commented Mrs. Roberts.

Their plans also included a stop in Osaka, Japan, to visit the parents of Yukinobu Nomura, an exchange student at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Birchard of Stanley street, Birmingham.

"WE WERE VERY surprised," said Mrs. Roberts, "at how sophisticated the Japanese people are. According to their belief, they have charms that will bring them good luck in just about every situation."

"We also learned," she continued, "that bamboo means strength to these people. For it will bend, but not break, as man should bend under strain but not break."

During a cocktail party in their Bangkok hotel, the Roberts met Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Steelman III, former mayor of Birmingham. "In one of our hotels," she said, "we were given a room with American furnishings, but we asked the hotel if we could have one in Japanese style. The hotel clerk was quite amazed because most American tourists want Japanese rooms and the Japanese want American rooms."

"HENRY WAS ONE of the most interesting creatures we met on our trip," commented Mrs. Roberts. "He was a little lizard-like animal that lived on the walls of our hotel room."

"Whenever we would enter our room, my husband would always call out, 'Henry, where are you?' and I would say in a louder voice, 'Henry wherever you are, stay there.'"

When their three month vacation came to an end, the Roberts boarded a Japanese Airliner and arrived home with souvenirs and many memories that they will cherish for a long time.

Patricia Sherwood and John S. VanAlystine III, were united in marriage Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Sherwood of Lahser drive, Birmingham. The Rev. Norvell of Christ Church Cranbrook performed the 4:30 o'clock ceremony.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. VanAlystine, Jr., of Kennesaw, Birmingham.

The bride wore a gown fashioned of the white silk taffeta, ballerina length with a short veil and carried orchids and stephanotis.

Patricia's sister, Mrs. J. L. Lister, sister-in-law of the bride, was her only attendant. She chose a turquoise ballerina length gown with pink camellias. The bride's father stood as best man.

Paula is in her senior year of nursing at St. Carmel Mercy hospital, Detroit, and Frank is a senior in the Engineering School, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The wedding is planned for mid-August, after Paula and Frank complete their current studies.

ON FRIDAY Mrs. J. Stewart Wilson, Kitty Anne's mother, entertained bridesmaids and their mothers at a luncheon at her home on Valley Spring drive. The girls had an exciting time at selecting dresses they will wear at Kitty Anne's March wedding.

Present were Ann Cutler and her mother of Detroit, Suzanne Janetke, Jeanette Cameron and Damaris Blythe and their mothers, all of Grosse Pointe.

ALSO IN ON the fun was Mary Sue Wilson, who will be her sister's maid of honor.

Kathryn Ann will receive her BA degree on Jan. 25th when she will graduate from the University of Michigan.

"Snowbound"—Campus Dance

The frosty winter white look of Marygrove college campus will be reflected in the decorations filling alumnae hall Friday evening, Jan. 17, when the junior class presents the traditional J-From, which they have entitled "Snowbound."

Birmingham girls assisting with arrangements for the semi-formal dance are Sheila O'Leary of Birwood avenue, heading the ticket committee, assisted by Joan Soma of Kirkshire.

Crisp-looking snowmen, surrounded by sparkling snowflakes will be found in the spacious campus ballroom as the girls and their escorts dance to the music of Fred Netting and his orchestra.

"First" Wedding Cake

There was a full house Sunday at 554 Wimpleton as flowers arrived and more than 150 guests came dining at the 40th wedding anniversary reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Allen.

The celebration was planned by the Allen's three daughters, Mrs. William Rieker of Walled Lake, Mrs. John E. Wilson and Mrs. John D. Titmus, both of Birmingham.

A long low arrangement of red roses and white carnations flanked by tall white tapers in silver holders graced the party table.

Young Artist

Four-and-a-half year old Cathy Bulone will be among the youngest artists displaying works at the Bloomfield Art Association this month. Her greatest accomplishment in the line of art has come from her sculptor daddy, Joseph Bulone of Hazel street. Cathy now has distinct colors since daddy showed her how to clean the brush which is simply making use of available things.

Children's Exhibit to Show Range of Art Development

Children's art exhibit, "Unfolding of Artistic Creativity," at the Bloomfield Art association will open Jan. 12. The galleries at 361 North Woodward avenue will be open to the public weekends through Jan. 28, Fridays and Saturdays from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9:30 and Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Old Papers . . . New Use

Mrs. John McBrian isn't happy with just giving a party unless she can inject some of her novel ideas . . . and last week was her golden opportunity.

She and her husband entertained at a supper party and gadget shower for bride-elect Kathryn Ann Wilson and her fiance, William Moeller, in their Bloomfield Village home.

Instead of using the usual conventional wrappings on her gift, Mrs. M. presented the young couple with a package cleverly covered with pictures of brides and accompanying articles clipped from editions of The Eccentric.

ON FRIDAY Mrs. J. Stewart Wilson, Kitty Anne's mother, entertained bridesmaids and their mothers at a luncheon at her home on Valley Spring drive. The girls had an exciting time at selecting dresses they will wear at Kitty Anne's March wedding.

Present were Ann Cutler and her mother of Detroit, Suzanne Janetke, Jeanette Cameron and Damaris Blythe and their mothers, all of Grosse Pointe.
