

Alfred Kruegers Entertain Guests for New Year's Eve

To ring in the new year and bid farewell to the old, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Krueger, 1017 Brooklawn, entertained in their home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnes, 1027 Brooklawn, acting as co-host and hostess.

Novemakers and confetti were spread as the group of neighbors danced, sang and enjoyed the evening of fun.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gorman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penning, Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. John Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morley.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ford Sims, Mr. and Mrs. William Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Tawellian and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blair, guests from Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Mulhern, 551 Brooklawn, had as their house guests over the holidays Mrs. Mulhern's mother, Mrs. Cecelia Mall, who traveled here by train from Chicago.

Tommy, twins Michael and Mary, Johnny and Johnnie especially enjoyed having their grandmother with them on Christmas.

An open house on New Year's eve was given by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence of Watauga, near Troutman, for some friends and neighbors.

Holiday house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayes and children, Wynne, 212 Second and Christy, 16 months old, 1750 Graefield, were maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Funkhouser, who traveled here from Wilmette, Ill.

Also on hand for the holiday festivities were paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayes, Jr. of Kenilworth, Ill.

A special Christmas present was the arrival of Gregory James Zinkle, born Dec. 25. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zinkle, 1554 Witherlee.

At home playing with newly acquired toys were brothers, Robbie, 4, and Johnny, 2.

Little Mary Lee Anderson, daughter of the Thomas Andersons of Brooklawn road, celebrated her sixth birthday New Year's eve by inviting three of her playmates in for luncheon.

Guests included Mita Morze, Sandy Lippard, Kathy Bower and Mary Lee's sister, Kath.

After enjoying a pink birthday cake the girls played with their new Christmas dolls.

A week's trip to Cleveland Heights, Ohio was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gorman, 1020 Brooklawn, and children, Nancy, 4, Michael, 2, and 8-month-old Tommy.

While in their hometown the Gormans stayed with Mrs. Gorman's mother, Mrs. Mary Bergine and sister, Mrs. Richard Pinstock and family.

Mrs. Leo Gorman, Gorman's mother, also enjoyed having the Birmingham visitors. They attended a cocktail party where they saw many of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooker of Brooklawn road entertained friends at a New Year's celebration.

Sevens wearing gaily decorated hats were Mr. and Mrs. John Klumbe, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Trainer, Mr. and Mrs. John May, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Belding, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Pardee, Jr.

The T. P. Gobeckes, 1433 Wrenwood, with daughter, Jane, recently made two trips to Bay City, Mich.

At Christmas time they were house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Wylie, mother of Mrs. Gobecke and especially enjoyed a family reunion on Christmas day with their brothers and sisters who arrived from various sections for the occasion.

Due to Gobecke's interest in football, the family returned to Bay City accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walk and children, Rob and Judy, of Birmingham, to see the exciting Cleveland Browns-Detroit Lions game.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Chew, 991 Brooklawn, proudly announce the arrival of a daughter, Mary Jane, born Dec. 11.

Here from West Lafayette, Ind. to greet the new baby was her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Paul Alexander. The Chews have three other children, Paul, 5, Marta, 3, and Bruce, 21 months old.

The Robert Distlers, 881 Brooklawn, celebrated New Year's eve by inviting in three couples for an evening of bridge. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gorman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friester and Mr. and Mrs. Grandville Barker.

Before starting their bridge game, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ross stopped in before going to another party.

A few Trotton Manor residents celebrated New Year's eve by going to each other's homes for cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. The group first gathered at the Thomas Anderson's home on Brooklawn road and then on to the Harry Lippards for dancing in the newly completed recreation room and last but not least the James Bowers home on Witherlee.

The group consisted of Mr. and Mrs. George Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. William Mahon, Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, Jr., and Mrs. Bruce

Parties Original

Adolescent-age boys and girls are attracted to each other in a way, but at the same time are shy and self-conscious. They should have parties together, well-planned in partnership activity.

At the age they desire social activity together but at the same time are shy and confused when confronted with the actual association with each other. Consequently, it is essential to plan a party for them that automatically gives them partners and keeps them busy and interested.

LET'S TRY A Progressive Party. Provide each with a pencil and score card. For each game, they change partners and at the end, record individual scores on cards. Award prizes to girl high, and boy high and second and third likewise.

Have in a paper bag, slips of paper on which are written the names of famous couples, such as Mammie and Ike, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, George Burns and Grace Allen, etc. Have the men's names in one bag and women's in another. Let them draw for mates between each game.

THIRD GAME: Go To Jail. First player called "Jailer." Partner is "prisoner." Jailer, draws a word and prisoner tries to guess it. Jailer marks as many dashes in a row on paper as there are letters in his word.

On the first dash he writes first letter of the word and on last dash, he writes last letter. If either first or last letter is repeated within the word, he fills it in where it should be.

Jailer draws square frame-work on his paper assembling one of a well-guessed name a letter he guesses might be in the word. If right, jailer writes it in where it should be.

Jailer draws square frame-work on his paper assembling one of a well-guessed name a letter he guesses might be in the word. If right, jailer writes it in where it should be.

IF IT APPEARS more than once, he fills it in all proper places. If guesser's letter is wrong, he draws a dash at top of column. Second wrong guess, he draws a dash, third right leg, fourth right leg, fifth right arm and sixth left arm.

Seventh wrong guess, he draws the bars in front of jailed guesser and says that game. Let them play the game of this game, drawing for different partners between each.

Grand score tallies. Award prizes, serve birthday cake and open gift.
