Guests at a New Year's eve party given by Peter Ebbing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ebbing of Eastman road, welcomed the first and next year with singing and dancing. Greeting guests with Pete was Nancy Carolyn, 3121 Lovers.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carolin, Joe Jansen, Pat Little, and Mrs. Jack Carolyn, Merv Ann Kicker, Walt Dunn, Jerry Ewing, Marie Gram, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carolyn, Mr. and Mrs. Richard, Eker Dolores and Lenore Kalif, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jackson, Judy Gougeon and Larry Carolin.

An open house, to wish their neighbors the best for the coming year, was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boylan Jan. 3, at their home on S. Clabury road.

Adhering to the open house theme was Susie Boynton, who together with her son, Carl Becker, entertained 75 Birmingham high friends at the Boynton home Jan. 5.

Celebration invitations requested guests to appear at the party dressed in the outfit they were wearing when they received the cards, which added considerable liveliness to the occasion.

Refreshments were served while the girls and gals danced to the latest hits.

A birthday party honoring Mrs. L. N. Beck, was given at her home by Mrs. E. S. Maud at her home on Durrmore road. Guests who enjoyed cocktails and luncheon were Mrs. E. Bonhardt, Mrs. B. Fisher, Mrs. C. Schaeffgen, all of Detroit and the guest of honor.

An "end of the year" luncheon was hosted by Miss Virginia Pecha Dec. 30, at her home on Durrmore road.

Reuniscing at a table, centered with Christmas greens, fellow teachers at Walnut Lake school and college friends.

For the first time in 20 years, Mrs. Vincent Alain, of Inkster road, spent Christmas day with her parents. Together with her husband and children, Jim and Marjorie, the Alains left Dec. 22 for the upper peninsula and the small town of Chassell to visit Mrs. Alain's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lehto.

Also attending the family celebration were Mrs. Alain's sister and brother and their families. The Alain children were thrilled with the "twelve" Christmas at their grandparents' and their first trip over the new Mackinac bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Trzos of Walnut Lake road entertained at a neighborhood get-together to introduce newcomers. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jacques, The Jacques moved here recently from Royal Oak.

On Jan. 9 and 10, Trzos will attend a convention in Cleveland, Ohio, where he will be presented with a special award plaque for leadership in sales by the Janitor Co.

Many types of parties were hosted during the holidays, but residents of Bloomfield late should receive an "X" for originality for their traveling supper parties.

The festivities started at the George Rock home, then a visit to the John Boynton and the John Pangborn and the Charles Zeigler homes. The Dudley Sniders and James Lykes were next and finally to the Louis Garveys where a late supper was served.
