Bloomfield West Social Briefs

To introduce newcomer Sue Wright to other subdivision teenagers, Yvette Bette was hostess at a surprise party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bette, of Indian Trail.

The party was doubly enjoyable for Sue for she was also celebrating her 16th birthday.

A pizza dinner was served in the recreation room which was decorated in Sue's favorite colors of pink and blue.

Among the guests, who spent the evening dancing to music of the latest recordings, were two of Sue's old neighborhood friends, Carol Mays and Pat Hendricks, of Southfield.

Norene Buck and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kruse, taking side trips to Seattle and Mt. Hood.

They continued down the west coast to California, returning by way of Hamburg, Iowa, where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Digges.

They are now looking forward with great anticipation to the first showing of the many feet of color film they took recording their trip.

While they were gone, their son Kenney was enjoying camp life at Anjigami, a YM camp in Canada.

Ann Rice, daughter of the Reginald Rices, returned Wednesday from a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. L. E. O'Hara, of Princeton, Ky.

Ann graduated from Birmingham high school in June and will enter Hanover college this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Laitur, of E. Dartmouth road, have been enjoying the company of their grand-daughter, Alison Monteen for the past week, while her parents are on vacation.

The Arthur M. Schulers of Kenmore road returned recently from a successful two-week vacation swimming, water skiing and dancing at Gratiot Bay.

They were away, daughter Cathy was attending Camp Hiawatha, near Cummins, and Arthur, Jr., was enjoying a stay at Pines-Ranch at Brighton.

The E. Dartmouth road home of the Reginald Rices was the scene of a neighborhood barbecue supper honoring the J. K. Westerfields, who will leave in the near future to make their home in Chicago.

On hand to say their "goodbyes" were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hintermeister, with Ricky and John, Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. Lee-Frott, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Laitur and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Matthews. Others were Dun Boitnot, Jan Florinus, Dan Matthews and Bill, John and Bob Rice.

Veteran campers, the James B. Roberts, have returned from a vacation in northern Minnesota.

Leaving their car at Grand Marais, Minn., they hiked up the north shore of Lake Superior portaging their canoe and supplies.

They spent eight days enjoying the solitude of the island in Sego gull lake. Accompanying them on the trip were their daughter Margaret and Kay Grabor, of Putnam Ave.

A stop-over was made in Mercer, Wis., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmale.

The Paul Wise family returned recently from a camping trip in Arizona. Equipped with a mountain tent and station wagon sleeping facilities, Mr. and Mrs. Wise with Claudia, 8, and Roster, 3, explored the Navaho country.

With the help of Dr. Harry Wise of Fort Defiance, they were able to visit Indian villages and out of the way places not available to the average tourist.

At the Crystal trading post they purchased some beautiful Indian rugs and the youngsters were presented with authentic Indian dolls.

Mrs. D. H. Hamner hosted at a luncheon at her Walnut Lake road home for out-of-town guests, who arrived to attend the Monday evening wedding of Linda Ball and

Franklin Social Briefs

A swim in the large Roseberry pool and a hot dog-hamburger roast drew more than 40 young Republicans from Royal Oak, Birmingham to the Harold A. Roseberry home at 26380 Wellington Sunday. Sally Roseberry was hostess and the Brussels fair before.

Stay-at-homes Sally and her grandmother have been receiving enthusiastic European reports from Sally's parents and sister, Mrs. Albert Richmond, with one-year-old Cheryl Lynn and Mrs. Charles Morrow, all of Bloomington, back with them. Mr. Watts with sons Buddy and Leroy was here Sunday to take the visitors home.

In Canada the Crawford's attended a family reunion in honor of a cousin and her family who have been in missionary service in Africa.

The A. Bert Newlands, of Crestwood, with Denton, Elaine and Larry also are back from a Canadian vacation. They spent a week in Quebec visiting with the Howard family, of Washington, D. C., at their summer home on Lake Nipempragme.

After excellent salmon fishing there, the Newlands report they went on to enjoy lobster at Boothbay, Me.

A vacation is especially exciting when occupying a new summer home for the first time. This was the case for the John S. Robinsons, 2740 Dwyer, who are just back from their new place on Birch Lake near Elk Rapids.

It looks like a miniature Mt. Vernon in a setting of birch trees, describes the delighted Mrs. R., who spent a month there with her five youngsters. Her guest for a week was Mrs. Eugene Proulx of Royal Oak.

The vacation also was a reunion with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Converse, formerly of Franklin, as Mr. Converse was the builder of the Robertsons' new cottage.

Other vacationers returning last week were the H. Stephen Gidways, 27185 Seneca, and daughter Mary who spent a week at Harbor Springs visiting Mrs. Gidway's cousin, Mrs. William R. Kinder.

The Earl Ramseys, 31125 Baffin, with Linda, Brian and Betty spent last week at Jelly Lodge at Lake Leelanau on Lake Michigan.

The Ieland S. McBoys, 30549 N. Greenbriar, vacationed on the other side of the state at Fireside inn in Grand Lake north of Alpena.

First family to occupy a home in the new Franklin Village Farms subdivision off 12 1/2 Mile road were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Anschutz, who are moving into their new home on Tweed drive today.

An active subdivision nearby is Stone Oaks, whose residents will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barnes, of North Greenbriar, Sunday at their cottage on Upper

When the D. J. Crawford family, 26585 Woodlore, returned from a trip to Canada last week, they brought Mrs. Crawford's sister, Mrs. Joseph Watts, and cousin, Mrs. Alice Richmond, with one-year-old Cheryl Lynn and Mrs. Charles Morrow, all of Bloomington, back with them. Mr. Watts with sons Buddy and Leroy was here Sunday to take the visitors home.

The George E. Altmanbergers, of 22820 Whalley, will be entering the R. J. Hampsons, of Woodlore, informally this weekend at their cottage at Sand Point near Caseville.

Daughter, Karen Altmanbergers, will be accompanying them. She is a Sampono western tour. Son, Rick, has departed for camp Haystack.

Also on the Sampson tour are Ruth Jones, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jones, 25350 W. 13 Mile, and Connie Merwin, daughter of the Charles E. Merwins, 30145 S. Greenbriar.

By the time Connie returns from the five-week trip her parents will be settled in their new home in Cincinnati. They plan to move next Wednesday.

Lizzy Green, daughter of the E. J. Greens, 26585 Woodlore, also has joined the ranks of campers. Her parents drove her to Camp Arbutus near Traverse City last week.

On her first camping adventure Lizzy's roommate will be Pam Thompson, daughter of the Kenneth Thompsons, former Franklinites now living near Traverse City.

After depositing Lizzy, the Greens and son John, drove over to the thumb area to visit relatives.

Seven-year-old Paul Quint left Sunday with his grandmother, Mrs. Karen Varys, on a trip to Green Bay, Wis., and Chicago. They will visit relatives at Michigan City. Paul's parents, the Nicholas Quints, 32720 Colony Hill, plan to meet the travelers up north this week.
