St. Dunstan's Board Plans Pot Luck

1957-58 board of St. Dunstan's is having an opening night, pot-luck supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Martin of Cranbrook road. Each board member is bringing two guests who are not members, and after the supper the group will attend the first of four performances of "Inherit the Wind," final production of the season in the Cranbrook theatre.

The R. R. Nadals are having a group of friends for dinner and show Saturday. The Henry M. Jacksons are having a dinner before opening performance on Friday.

Explaining Instrument

Richard A. Long, graduate assistant in geology at Michigan State university, explains the operation of the open-sight alidade to Rex Whipple (left), son of the Merle Whipples of Birmingham. Students, by way of campus field application, learn the methods employed in geologic mapping, stressing the use of instruments used in the field such as compass, plane table and telescopic alidade.
