Baldwin Teacher Married in Ohio

A ballerina length gown of embossed sheer over taffeta was worn by Dorothy Jon Zehring, a teacher at Baldwin school, for her marriage to Thomas Leonard Lewis. The Rev. W. James Westhafer read the double ring rites at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, in Westminster Presbyterian church, Dayton, Ohio.

A scooped neck enhanced the fitted bodice, while gathers from the waist in back gave fullness to the circular skirt. Her two-tiered fingertip veil of imported French illusion was caught to a demi-cap, trimmed with lace and studded with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and English ivy centered with a white orchid.

PARENTS of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Zehring of Dayton and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur G. Lewis of Rochester, N. Y. Mary E. Zehring was the only bridal attendant and was gowned in powder blue taffeta. Hip panniers gave gathered fullness to the skirt extending from a long torso bodice fashioned with a scoop neckline.

Dale Hamlin was best man and seating the guests was Donald F. McKechnie. After a wedding trip through New England, the couple will reside in Alfred, N. Y., where Thomas will be teaching geology at Alfred university.
