New Store for Lathrup

Here's how the jubilee A & P store at Southfield and 12 Mile will look if and when the Lathrup council gives it final approval. Work is expected to start on July 7, but depends upon final reading of an ordinance rezoning 16 residential lots to parking and the vacation of an alley. The council will call a special meeting if last minute details are cleared. The Lathrup store will be a duplicate of this one with ample parking space surrounded by a five-foot face-brick wall.

Sunday Artists Should Do More Than Copy Scene

GRAND RAPIDS—If you're a Sunday painter and like to paint red barns that look like red barns, you can go ahead but—try to do better than just copy nature. John Goodyear, instructor of fine arts, painting and design at the University of Michigan's Grand Rapids extension school, says: "Art educators have offered some warning recently against worrying amateur painters with abstraction and modern theories of art. Their advice is to leave these painters alone to their own honest approach to nature."

something they want to bring home to hang on the mantle. Like the deer hunter after his kill, they stalk the elusive exact impression of what they see. Phrases such as "You've got it!" or "The freighters go too fast to catch them," give away a very limited understanding of the artistic process.

"Modern painting presents the amateur with the evidence that art is a process as well as a product, that the degree to which a person can reveal himself to others through the long procedure of painting many pictures, determines his success.

Water Conservation Plan Ready for Use

LATHRUP—If the city of Detroit restricts the use of water as weather gets warmer, Lathrup will go along with the restriction probably on the basis of odd numbered houses on odd calendar days and even on even numbered days. There will be no restrictions on Sundays, but it will be necessary to clear with city clerk Gerald Stone if a swimming pool.
