

Many American business men fall victim to the disastrous habit of "... speed ... hurry ... faster ... and more speed" in carrying on their daily tasks. It is like maintaining an excessive automobile speed, when there is no need for those extra, tension-filled miles per hour. So safer to drive at slower speeds ... more comfortable, relaxing mentally, emotionally.

The Birmingham Eccentric

BIRMINGHAM, MICHIGAN

Thursday, March 20, 1958

SECTION
D

"I Wish Mom Would Hurry"

Homework Comes First

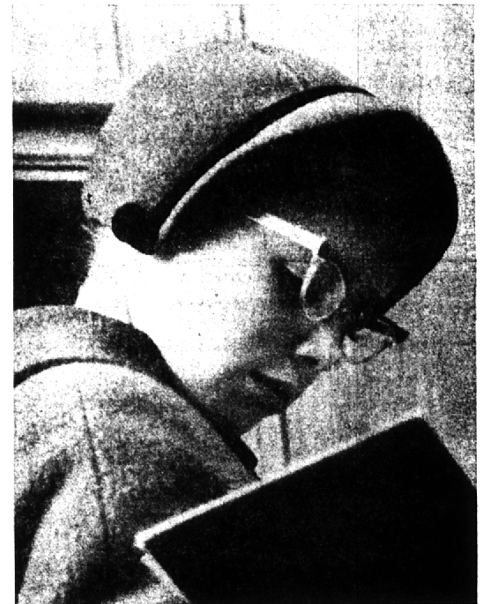

"Let's See Now"

Library Week Is Every Week To Youngsters

Visit Baldwin public library during after-school hours, or any Saturday, and you'll see that every week is library week to Birmingham area youngsters. From tots to teens, they pack the big book-lined room. There's reference material for school assignments and for the science-minded, and books for pleasure, too. Some don ear phones for talking books. The stereoscope fascinates the small fry. Theme of this week's celebration of National Library Week is "Wake Up and Read!" But most Birmingham area children are already awake and reading, enjoying the library along with their parents. The Eccentric here presents a candid photo study of youngsters getting the most out of one of Ben Franklin's many fine ideas.

Eccentric Photos
by
Les D. Line

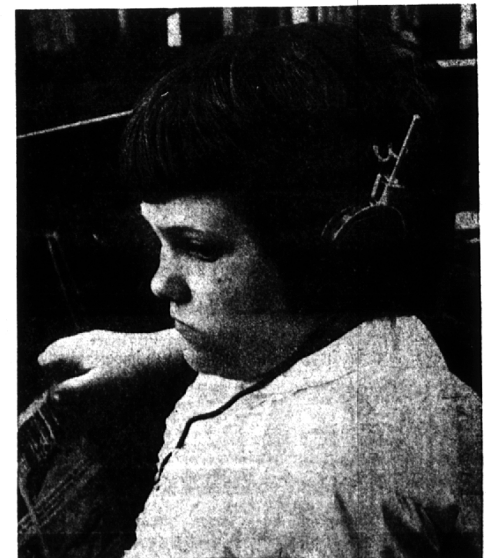

Engrossed

A Sneak Peek

"Gee Whiz"

Sounds Serious