Southfield Hi Notes
By JUDY CADDELL

Southfield's physics class yesterday got a "charge" out of static electricity demonstrations. In a week. Most of the students had heard about the demonstration, but had never had a first-hand look at it. It turned out to be quite a "shock" when Jim Mills, physics instructor, had everyone clamp hands with the fella in the front of the class holding onto the electrical apparatus. No one felt anything until Mills asked the fella in the back to turn the gas top, when he did, everyone got a jolt. After the initial "shock" was over, the demonstration was performed again, but this time the fella in the back held a light bulb—let you can't light a bulb just by holding on to it.

Four acts from the Southfield talent show went to Farmington high school yesterday. The acts were the Pagettes, a vocal group; Jim Farber, Kathy Berberich and the Royal Teens.

The Inter-Lakes conference met at Berkeley Monday evening to discuss the sports schedule for the '55-'56 season, track schedules for

To Address BHS Future Teachers

Dipton F. Grafman, director of admissions, National College of Education, Evanston, Ill., will speak to the Future Teachers of America club of Birmingham high school at 2 p.m. next Thursday in the school's little theater.

Grafman will discuss with the 67 member group the advantages of a four-year college training.

were Sharon Bradley, Judy Luhrs, Jerry Ellsworth and Ed Kennedy. The students were guests of Judy's father, Herman Luhrs, General Motors Company representative in Lansing. As guests, the students sat on the floor of the senate and the house. They dined at the capitol building with the speaker of the house and the chairman of the labor committee.

Southfield students have been asked to send a shower of cards to student Tom Rulley. Tom, a football and basketball star, will be a patient at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, for the next two weeks, until cards to settle his heart condition.

A new club is to be formed interpretative dancing. Miss Glutz will meet with the group in the cafeteria at 8 p.m.
