Director Misses Opening Night at Village Players

Mrs. Madeline Tilton will see the results of her direction of the Village Players' production of "The Great Sebastians" for the first time this week.

Called to California on a family emergency, Mrs. Tilton was forced to miss the dress rehearsal and last week's successful opening nights of the play currently being presented at the Playhouse on Chestnut street. The cast and production staff look forward to her reaction to the finished result. Before her departure, Mrs. Tilton, as is her longstanding custom, prepared and served a supper for those working on her play, and afterwards spoke to the group about her philosophy of amateur dramatics as a combination of work and fun. Under the capable supervision of Mrs. William E. Kegel, the assistant director, the final polishing of details was carried on.

"The Great Sebastians" starring William Kegel and Harriet Fox in the lead roles, will be presented again this Friday and Saturday, with curtain time at 9 p.m. Tickets are available to the public at Machus, 160 W. Maple, Birmingham.
