Barnum Bylines

BY THE PRESS CLUB

Recently the eighth and ninth grades took national English examinations. This is the first year they were taken by Barnum students. The tests were graded by the English teachers and the grades will be sent in to Wisconsin for nationwide percentile gradings.

Last Wednesday Barnum students watched a very entertaining show. It was the annual talent show exchange with Derby.

At the end of the school year Mrs. Wangberg, math and algebra teacher, will retire. She plans to travel with her husband who retails medicines to doctors and dentists. Mrs. Wangberg taught Barnum students 15½ years ago and has been a substitute in Birmingham for seven years. Very often she has found herself teaching the children of former students. Mrs. Wangberg taught her husband for one semester as a substitute at Michigan State and has also, as a substitute, taught her own four children at different times.

BHS Juniors, Seniors Enter Honor Society

By JULIE HOOVER

Last week's assembly was the annual induction ceremony of the national honor society. The ceremony was led by the treasurer, Ran Hamner, in the absence of the president, Dave Muhlitner.

Four members of the society spoke on the qualifications for membership—Betty Nichols, character; Pete Brink, leadership; Dory Rodgers, scholarship, and Connie Gordon, service.

Other members participating were herald, Mike Sommer, pages Nancy Hagen, Sally Ann Pope, Dick Boyd and Ran Hamner and ushers Mary Ellen Bleakley, Pat Henry, Pat Fuller and Nancy Stewart.

MR. WAGNER presented the new members with their certificates and membership cards after they had taken the oath administered by Hamner.

These additions to the membership bring the total membership for this year to 110. After the ceremony, new members and their parents were invited to a reception presented by the old mmbers in the cafeteria.

DATELINE DERBY

By TOM WOODWORTH

The recent record hop was a huge success. It was sponsored by the Derby band to raise money for the purchase of uniforms for the band. The dance followed a "Twilight Time" theme and the gym was gaily decorated with a false ceiling of crepe paper and streamers.

Teachers helping at the dance included Don Laatsch, Dave Voydanoff, Tom Paylor, Hans Jens, Carl Pacacha and Mrs. Ruth Fenzl. A rock and roll dance contest was held and judged by the teachers. Runners-up were Bob Maxwell and Jean Maurar. Winners were Larry Huffman and Jennifer Jackson.

A cutest couple contest was also held. Twelve finalists were chosen from among the dancers and danced to slow record for the judges. The three winning couples were Bill Henderson and Bev Byrne, Jeff McPartlin and Connie Lee and Mike Kritz and Susan Fisher.

April 23 Derby's seventh and eighth grade track teams met with Clara Barton of Royal Oak. The seventh grade team won easily, 63-28, taking nine of 11 firsts places.

The eighth graders also won, 57-34, capturing all but three firsts. Derby also won the ninth grade meet which was held Friday at Anderson junior high, Berkley.

Upcoming track meets include: May 2—Barnum (H); May 9—Troy Baker (H); May 16—Berkley Norup (H); May 23—Clawson (H); May 28—Barnum (high school); June 4—Roseville Burton (H).

All meets but the last begin at 4 p.m. The Roseville Burton meet starts at 3:30 p.m.

The Navy's experimental XC-7 steam catapult is able to propel a 15,000 pound plane from a standing start to 168 MPH in three seconds. It is currently under evaluation at the Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Md.

Cranbrook Drama Cast

The entire cast of Cranbrook school's coming drama production, "Mr. Barry's Etchings", gathered for this picture during one of their current rehearsals. The play is a comedy about a "sort of innocent counterfeiter' and his entanglements with "real" thieves. There will be two public performances Friday and Saturday evenings in Cranbrook's auditorium. Curtain time is 8:15 both nights. Direction for the play is being handled by Templin Licklider, assisted by student producers Sherry Galtely and Lou Potter. All female roles are played by students from Kingswood. Left to right, front row: Jane Anderson, Valorie Armstrong, Mary Heinnick and Linda Horace; center row: Michael Hilder, Robert Neufeld, Christine Gilmartin, Licklider, Jill Doner, Boris Nicoloff, and Raymond Sokolov; back row: William Pollard, Kitt Scripps and William Herter.

Birmingham High School Bulletins

Monday 29 Birmingham seniors participated in Civic Control day when they took over the various city jobs and managed the city.

Monday night there was a mock commission meeting at which reports from city officials were given and proposals made. City commissioners were Don Andreae, Bob Benson, Carol Decker, Betsy Carroll, Jan LeMessurier, Ruthann Huffman and Jim Trusell. Don Andreae was elected mayor by the commissioners.

Officials were Lynn Lopata, recreation director; Barb Hobart, park director; Anne Martin, city manager; Pat Henny, director of finance; Nancy Stewart, city assessor; Punch LeMessurier, city treasurer; Buzz Corsaut, city engineer; Gib Slater, city clerk; Rich Ward, superintendent of public works, and John Roberson, assistant city manager.

Also, Kent Cardell, chief of police; Jim Varnum, fire chief; Jack Palmer, building inspector; Ran Hamner, sewage plant operator; Barry Ludwig, municipal judge; Dick Brigaw, city attorney; Lois Bernitt, assistant county nurse; Gaer Guerber, city treasurer; John Shreves, dog catcher; Jim Westbury, electrical inspector; Pat Ruhly, county sanitarian, and Dan Davison, city planner.

Robert Richards was civic control day advisor. Cochairmen were Roger Kissam and Jan LeMessurier.

The Junior class girls have elected Judy Winchell and Linda Burkman their representatives to the Wolverine girls' state July 17-25. Alternates are Sandy Walker and Lynn Cloonan. Linda is sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, Judy by the student congress.

Five BHS students won scholarships in the recent mathematics scholarship testing held here. The program was sponsored by several state colleges. Birmingham's winners were John Shreves, Jeff Berno, Pete Brink, Harold Shappell and Dick Boyd. All are seniors. Birmingham's five winners was the state's top showing.

SQT testing was held Tuesday. These tests are used as a basis for all qualifications for scholarships and are also sometimes required for college entrance. The testing program has been enlarged to accommodate all members of the Junior class who wish to apply.

Cranbrook Corridor

Dave Collon and John Butzel will be the Cranbrook representatives spending this coming summer in Europe under the American Field service program. Cranbrook has one AFS student, Chris Platou of Norway.

Awards for the Time magazine current events contest have been given at Cranbrook. Winners are John Hartman, Mitchal Grayson, Dave Burnett, Tom Ruth, Eric Chester, Jeff Mitchel and Bob Kline.

The list of representatives at last week's NATO world affairs seminar here was impressive. It included, from the United States, Dr. Innis Claude, University of Michigan, international relations expert; Jea-Paul Despariment, the French consul-general in Detroit; Dr. Ferdinand Friedensburg, West German consul in Detroit; Eric DaRin, Detroit's Italian consul; Semith Akbil, first secretary of the Turkish Washington embassy, and Alcibiades Papadoupolous, the royal Greek consul-general from Chicago.

Britain was represented by a post-graduate history student from the U of M, Nagil Gayton, head of the British information service for the midwest, was unable to attend at the last minute. Professor Claude and the U. of M. student were the only guests not official representatives of their home governments.

Kingswood Column

By KRISTINE GILMARTIN

The most important event for us last week was the annual Kingswood-Cranbrook foreign affairs seminar Thursday and Friday. This year's topic was NATO, and speakers represented seven of the member nations — France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Turkey, Greece and the United States.

Dr. Ferdinand Friedensberg, German consul in Detroit, spoke Thursday morning. That evening, a panel discussion among the members of the seminar faculty was held at the Kingswood auditorium for all interested students.

Saturday evening the senior class presented its annual dance. The theme: south-of-the-border, "Where Nights Are Gay." The clever tickets were pineapple-shaped, and decorations included colorful calypso hats and a native hut. The music was Latin-American.

A preview of the Cranbrook production of "Mr. Barry's Etchings" was given at Kingswood this morning.

Bloomfield Hills Billboard

By ANDREE GALLAUDET and SUE SUNDBERG

Sue Fry was the hostess of the week. She invited her sophomore classmates to a get-together at her house Friday night.

New cheerleaders for the coming season were chosen Friday. They are seniors Barb vanDyk and Patti Van Vurst, juniors Jane Durham and Gay Manvel and sophomores Renee Ross and Marcia Mezey. The junior varsity, composed entirely of sophomore, includes Barb Listman, Jayne Ryan, Tina Day, Jean Richardson, Sue Wotila and Laurene Pinkerman.

The seniors and their chaperones, Miss Barry, Miss Larson, Mr. Lemke and Mr. Luchtman, returned from their Washington trip Saturday night.

The Jills were guests at Forest Lake country club last Friday night, singing for a private dinner.
