Spellers B-a-t-t-l-i-n-g It O-u-t

It took nearly four hours to determine who was the top speller among these students from Oakland county schools who competed in a district spelling bee Friday at Baldwin school. Winner was Detroit Country Day school student Lowrie MacMillan, shown by arrow at right. Runner-up after a 45-minute spelling duel was Louis Beer of Cranbrook school (arrow at left). Both boys are eighth graders, aged 13 years. 11 months. Competing against them were fifth through eighth grade students from several Birmingham schools: Of the 43 who began spelling at 1:30 p.m., nine remained at 3:40 p.m. They included sixth grader Dale Bosley, Quanton school, and James Dennis, Pierce school; eighth graders Barbara Cronis, of Derby, and Rosemary Stevens, City and Country school. Lowrie, who won on the word "bulwark", will go on to the Detroit contest May 29 in the auditorium of the sponsoring Detroit News. Detroit winner goes on to national contest in Washington.
