In case you think you might be stung

Some people seem to feel that prescriptions are outrageously priced. The truth of the matter is this:

Last year the average American bought about 3 prescriptions for a total cost of around $7.50. An average of less than $3.00 per prescription. Sure, some drugs cost a lot. So do television tubes—for the same reason. They're expensive to manufacture. New and improved production methods, however, bring prices down. Penicillin, for example, costs only a very small fraction of what it did when it first came out.

Here at Wilson's you will find all prescription prices in accordance with the recommendations of the U. S. Veterans Administration, for government beneficiaries ... AND we are always pleased to serve you.

Hungarian Refugee Exhibits Sculpture

In celebration of its eighth anniversary and by coincidence at the same time of the first Birmingham Arts festival, the Little Gallery has prepared a series of exhibitions. First a sculpture show, then a painting and finally a jewelry show and all three will run concurrently until June 6.

The sculpture show will consist mainly of recent works by Lazlo Ispanki, the Hungarian refugee artist. He is just finishing a one-year honorary scholarship at Cranbrook Academy, which was financed by the students at the art school. Coping to Cranbrook in Sept. '57.

Have You Met ...

The residents of 20600 Glenhill court? Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Kroneman, Jr., and their three children, Diana, "Chipper" and Johnny moved from Detroit in October. Mr. Kroneman is plant manager at Liberty Tool & Engineering Corp. They are members of the Birmingham Country club.

He has devoted his time to learning English and reorienting his art to a more western viewpoint that had been possible while studying and working in the war torn and Communist ridden Hungary.

His first was a colossal "Free Man at Peace" which he presented to the United States government as a gesture of gratitude for asylum. His latest is a charmingly simple rendition of two young girls dancing a kind of peasant round "The Sisters," which he is hoping to present to Cranbrook in appreciation of his year's stay at the Academy.
