Mr. and Mrs. Markey Honeymoon to Florida

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Jones of Puppy street, Birmingham, wore a gown of blossom white organza blended with chantilly lace. Pearls and pallidies fringed the lace empire bodice designed with brief sleeves and rounded décolletage etched in petal scalloping.

A JEWELLED diadem of pearls and pallidies crowned her tiered veil of illusion which cascaded to waist length. The bride's flowers were a cascade of sweetheart roses and ivy.

Mrs. Melvin E. Allhouse was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a white organza dress with a rounded neckline and short sleeves. A coronet of pearl trimmings, tulle with halo scalloped veil and a nosegay bouquet of pink rosebuds completed her costume.

The groom, son of Mrs. Patrick Markey of Detroit and the late Mr. Markey, asked Jack Tunnah to be his best man. Ushers were Donald Jones, bride's brother, and Melvin Allhouse.
