Mr. and Mrs. Nick Timmesch of 559 Oakland? They moved from Detroit in Oct. 26. He is correspondent for Time, Inc. They have two children. Nick is a member of the Detroit Press club and University of Iowa Alumni association.

'Tri Delta Through the Years'

Birmingham alumnae chapter of Delta Delta Delta was hostess to the Detroit alumnae group for dinner at Northwood Inn yesterday, where they celebrated the 70th anniversary of the founding of the sorority. "Tri Delta through the years" was the theme of a skit directed and narrated by Mrs. John Canavan. Costumes were obtained from the Detroit Historical Museum. (From left) are Mrs. Henry Dahlquist in a duster from 1910; the roaring 20's was represented by Mrs. Theodore Butz as a flapper; Mrs. James C. Foster represented the 1888 Delta in a bustled costume and (seated) Mrs. Clark Pardee, soloist and pianist. Toastmistress for the evening was Mrs. Norman V. Diedrich, who also read the president's proclamation. The traditional candlelighting service and roll call concluded the program.

'Roaring Twenties' Theme Of Subdivision Party

A couple of weird looking "underworld characters" personally delivered engraved party invitations in the dead of the night to guests in the Leonard Lane subdivision, inviting them to a "Roaring Twenties" party that took place on Saturday evening.

The guests arrived in the attire of the Twenties and had to give the password at the Club 7700, before entering the Blind Pig on Lancaster drive.

Greeting them were Machine Gun Taylor and his gun moll Max. The walls and ceiling of the speakeasy were decorated in a soft blue sparkling material with tinsel and ornaments of that era.

Colorful candles in jars added an eerie light to the tables surrounding the dance floor. Rooting Handach and Butchak Co. were served to the beaming guests.

Each couple were required to entertain with a three minute act of their choice. "Blast From The Past" the annual award little brown jug was awarded to the Paul Taylors for 1958, for their act of a world renowned magician and his lady assistant.

Joining in the evening of fun were the Thayer Cowmans, the William Kears, the Charles Howsons, the Robert Klores, the Robert Wasons, the Alan Yates, the William Reichards, the Rod Campbells, the Don Frankmans and the William McCurdys.

Recent houseguests at the Upton drive home of the William Gorenbos were Mrs. Gorenbos's sister and brother-in-law, the Charles C. Brandons of Rochester, N. Y.

During their stay Mrs. Gorenbos hosted a luncheon in honor of her sister. On the guest list were friends whom Mrs. Brandon hadn't seen for some time.

Present were Mrs. Sparkman D. Foster, Mrs. Carl Schorn and Mrs. Alton Ems of Birmingham. Other guests included Mrs. Russell D. Smith of Detroit, Mrs. Morris Head and Mrs. Nathan Hutchinson of Dearborn and Mrs. William Hunt of Pleasant Ridge.

A tea and baby shower was recently hosted by Mrs. Fred Hatch of Henhawk drive, honoring Mrs. Robert Brisky of Henhawk.

The baby shower was a "surprise" to Mrs. Brisky, who left with her family to make their home in Chicago, Ill. An attractive grouping of miniature storks, tea roses and mums adorned the tea table. Mrs. Roland Starr assisted the hostess by pouring, for the 16 Thornwood guests.

Mrs. Clifford Mezey of Oakhill drive entertained members of her bridge club last week. Thornwood residents enjoying the dessert bridge were Mrs. William Gorenbos, Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. Vincent McCabe, Mrs. Carl Schorn, Mrs. James Everett and Mrs. William Akin. The group have been meeting semi-monthly for the past two years.

The Ralph Richardson of Weatherly drive will be entertaining 50 friends at a farewell cocktail party for Mr. and Mrs. George Young of Birmingham Saturday evening.

The Youngs are moving to New York shortly.

Mrs. William Spence of Dowling road, with the help of 35 Ahmose Temple Daughters of the Nile, gaily wrapped 400 table prizes at her home for the Convalescent Party of Crippled Children held at the Sheraton Cadillac on Friday evening.

The Founders room and the main ballroom were needed to accommodate the many guests arriving for the evening of cards. The proceeds went to the Children's Hospital for braces.

Mrs. Spence, party chairman, and Mrs. James Roark of Birmingham, helped to make the party a successful one.

New residents on Bolingbroke drive are the Robert Woolleys of Miami, Fla. They have two daughters, Pam and Debbie, attending Harlan school. Woolley is claim supervisor at Standard Accident Insurance Co., Detroit. Photography and crafts are among their hobby interests.

Enjoying their new home on Far Hill drive, are the William Vohls of Alexandria, Va. The family are originally of Philadelphia, Pa. Vohl is district sales manager with Campbell Soup Co., Detroit. They have two children, Kerry, 10 and Sandra, 7, attending Harlan school.

Another new family in Hickory Heights are the Eugene Jacksons of Hickory Heights drive, formerly of Detroit. They have two sons, Michael, who celebrated his 10th birthday last week, and Timmy, 4. Michael is a pupil at Harlan school. Jackson is employment manager of the J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit.

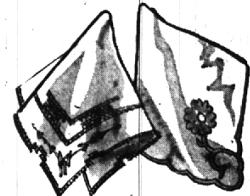

The Jack Charipars and two-year-old Diane are newcomers to Northdale road. Their move was from Royal Oak. Charipar is chief engineer of Plymouth division of Chrysler Corp., and belongs to the Society of Automotive Engineers. Their interests are their home and traveling.

Have you met the Frank Mauttees of Westview drive, recently moving here from Evergreen Park, Ill.? They have two children, Daniel, 12, a student at Bloomfield junior high and Cathy, 10, a pupil at Eastover school. Mauttee is a labor relations representative with Chrysler Corp. The family's sports interests are skating and swimming.

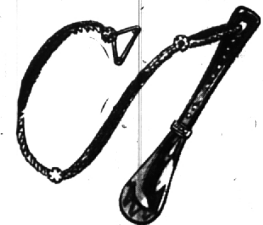

Houseguests visiting the Mauttees last week for a few days were Mrs. Mauttee's mother, Mrs. Josephine Peterson of Highland Park, Ill., and a friend, Mrs. Leslie Hamilton of Kenosha, Wis.
