Newlyweds on Caribbean Cruise

Diane Learo Koppen was an ivory silkscreen print dress gown for her marriage Saturday to Richard Donald Kendall. The bodice, side and back panels were trimmed in silk-twill heart-shaped flowers. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pillbox hat, trimmed with the same lace. She wore long kid gloves with her short sleeved gown and carried a wrist bouquet of calla lilies.

The couple exchanged vows to a 1 o'clock highland wedding service in the Central Providence church's chapel, after the couple's wedding ceremony, theIVE of the wedding was St. John's Catholic Church in Providence, St. Louis, and the reception was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smiley, R.N., 165 West Creek Ave., Providence.

FIVE ATTENDANTS were in full-length gowns, a bouquets, a ring bearer, and a best man. The wedding was in the back ceremony was also a small group of guests, including the bride and groom.

For her wedding, she wore a gown from Madame's Bridal Shop, R. D. S. Inc.
