A Tree Grows in Bloomfield Junior High

Bloomfield Hills junior high school officials and members of the Wing Lake branch of the WPFDA held over the last in hand at the new school, opened this fall. The Wing Lake garden enthusiasts donated $100 to finance the beautification of an enclosed court, in cooperation with the school’s landscape architect. Authoring the completed project are left to right: William McVay, principal of Bloomfield Hills junior high school; Mrs. Martin Potts, president of Wing Lake WPFDA; Mrs. Edward Fuller, vice-chairman of the garden club; and Eugene Johnson, superintendent of Bloomfield Hills schools.
