SOCIETY

Leonard Lane Residents Meet William Broomfield

Mrs. William Reichard of Bolingbroke drive recently hosted a gathering of Leonard Lane residents to meet William Broomfield, Congressman from Oakland County, and Farrell Roberts of the state legislature, for an informal discussion of current political issues.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dellar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wason, Mr. and Mrs. William Karris, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eckhout, Mrs. Robert Kloor, Alan Yates and William McCurdy.

Other guests in the Charwood area were the William Deweys, the David DeWitts, the Sherrill Simpsons and the Roger Blackwoods.

Cocktails were served at the home of the Robert Colmans of Birmingham for members of the Harlequin Dance club prior to their dance at the Glen Oak Country club.

Among the groups were the Bruce Butlers, the Thomas Towlers, the Robert Murrays, the Stan Webers, the Robert VanDerweers and the John Morris, all of the Birmingham area.

The United Foundation Torch Drive for 1958 began Oct. 14 and will continue through the 24, with Mrs. George Carney of Pine Hill drive hosted a going away dinner honoring Dolores Tibbert of Royal Oak, a cousin of Mrs. Carney's, on Oct. 5. The table for 25 was attractively centered with a floral arrangement and candles carrying out a blue and pink color theme. Assisting Mrs. Carney were Mrs. Armand Chauvin and Mrs. Leo Tisdelle, relatives from Stoney Pointe, Ontario.

Dolores and her fiance, Joseph Cavaleri, of Royal Oak will be married on Nov. 8, at St. Denis Church in Royal Oak.

Mary Ellen Kenefick, daughter of the Alfred Keneficks of Burnley drive, was recently honored at a miscellaneous shower given by co-hostesses, Mrs. Wendell Butler of Tullamore and Mrs. Fred McCullive of Burnley drive, at the Tullamore drive home recently.

Mary Ellen was married to Wayne O'Shaughnessy, son of Carl O'Shaughnessy of Keego Harbor, at the St. Dunast's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook last Saturday.

A group of 25 Birmingham couples went to the Michigan-Navy games at Ann Arbor on the main last Saturday morning. Upon their return the group arrived at the E. W. Richards of Haddigan road for dinner. Among the couples were the Donald Clarks, the Howards, the Tom Restricks and the Robert Bichans.

Members of the Charwood area had such fun last spring while taking an eight-lesson dancing course, that they decided to take another 10 lessons this fall.

Last Sunday the group of eight couples met at the Dillard home of the Steven Nowaks for a "dance session" taught by the Bruce Rutlers of Fred McCullive drive. Included in the group were the Tom Towlers, the Jack Parkers, the Bruce Rutlers, the Kip Rolands of Charwood, and the Donald Davidsons, the James Adams, the Lee Cases of Birmingham.

A desert-bridge was hosted by Mrs. David DeWitt Tubbury Lane on Thursday for the benefit of the "Needlework Guild," Birmingham branch.

Among those attending were Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. James Charney, Mrs. Donald Young, Mrs. Ted Mackey, Mrs. Sherrill Simpson, Mrs. Roger Blackwood. Others were the Donald Malinets, Mrs. Hilbert Hirschfeld, Mrs. Bruce Butcher and Mrs. Don Howland, all of Charwood subdivision. Mrs. Eugene Nalepa was present from Bloomfield.

The annual luncheon of directors of the Needlework Guild was last week at the Bloomfield Hills Open Hunt club. Birmingham directors in the North Adams area attending were Mrs. Milton Rogers, Mrs. Henry Keslarian, Mrs. David DeWitt and Mrs. Hugh Carney.

There was much reminiscing at the 50th anniversary reunion dance of the Northwestern high school alumni at Warren Valley country club the evening of Oct. 4. Among the 400 attending were the Paul Taylors of Leonard Lane, the Edward Smiths of Charwood, and the Ray Dentos of Thorwood.

The Dantos entertained at a cocktail hour before the dance.

A wedding anniversary dinner party was hosted by the William Puters of Eansbury drive last Saturday evening. They and their guests the Roland Delmers of North Adams have anniversaries within days of each other, which gave cause for the celebration.
