Operation

on the streets of Beirut by rebel forces during the first week of the U. S. landing in Lebanon July 15. Cakes and pies were donated by both American and Lebanese housewives, and the actual overflow contributed for the particular cake lift was enough not only for dinner in the evening but for snacks after the nightly movies.

TROOP C has named its pretty, although rocky, mountain camp under paroled pines the "OK Corral," and their stamp-sized half-pot "The Rock."

Leslie D. Folk, assistant press attache of the U. S. embassy, Beirut, from Swarthmore, Penn., brought up and directed the cake lift which is now being duplicated every Thursday to some other remote point—even including the U. S. Navy personnel at sea where they are stuck for longer periods than usual because of the present Lebanese political situation.

This Swarthmorean has done much to raise the morale of the boys who might otherwise have felt left out of things.

Zacharias Returns To Annapolis, Md.

Thomas C. Zacharias, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd C. Zacharias of Washington boulevard, Birmingham, returned to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., after a month-long midshipman cruise aboard the Atlantic Fleet destroyer USS Abbot.

During the cruise, he had the opportunity to visit San Juan, Puerto Rico; Ponta Delgada, Azores; Gibraltar; and Naples, Italy. In Naples he was transferred to the destroyer escort USS Robert L. Wilson for the remainder of the cruise and the return voyage to the states.

Are You Promotable Or Expendable?

In these times, that's a question you ought to be asking yourself, especially if you're under the ages of 25 and 45. For, during these crucial years, most men either make good or they don't. The best way to realize their ambitions... or slide slowly into the stifling routine of average jobs.

Fortunately, there is always time for the man who faces up to reality. He analyzes his true worth, pinpoints the areas where he may be. Then he sets his goal and finds out how to make himself promotable, how to gain greater income, recognition and prestige.

Find out how Dale Carnegie training can help make your crucial years your most productive years. Plan now to attend a free demonstration meeting.
