Franklin Social Briefs

The Earl Ramseys of Baffin court evened things up nicely last Thursday with the arrival of a fourth child and second son, William Lee. The new addition was warmly greeted by sisters Linda and Betty and brother Bryan.

About 35 couples gathered at the Roy Pero home on Franklin road last Saturday for cocktails. Golf pro Mike Jennings, pride of the Western Golf and Country club, was co-host for the party which drew so many people parking was extended to the neighbor's drive.

Mr. and Mrs. George Altmanberger celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary last week by entertaining a group of friends and neighbors at their home on Whitley road.

The young Charles Lenehan of Wellington road have decided to pull up stakes to return to the east for a great new adventure. Lenehan recently purchased the Ham-

Is Prune or Not? Is Franklin Query

FRANKLIN — The art of pruning will be discussed by the male members of the Franklin Garden club tonight when couples meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marson, 24011 13 Mile road. Making up a round table of about 30, the gentlemen will exchange views on proper methods in the trimming of deciduous and coniferous trees and shrubs.

About 200 people stipped by the PTA playground open house Sunday morning. Members of the Birmingham school board were on hand to lend prestige to the occasion, as families admired the renovated school yard.

Twenty young hopefuls auditioned for the part of Item last Sunday as the Franklin Players board listened and made a choice of three little girls for their forthcoming "Mr. Angel" production. Judy Bartleson, Paula Bergeron and Linda Roberts will each have a turn on stage in the three-night, theater-in-the-round production benefiting the PTA.

Mothers may be a little hard to keep track of these next two weeks. They'll be signing for one "coffee" to another, arguing for cookies and such. Room mothers holding morning get-togethers at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 6 are Mrs. Ernest Hillboe and Mrs. Charles Peterson. Mrs. John Roberts and Mrs. Robert Love will entertain Oct. 7. Mrs. Richard Diederich, Mrs. Eugene Kelly and Mrs. Fred McNabb have scheduled a tea Oct. 8 with Mrs. Philip Detwiler holding her coffee at 1:30 p.m. the same day.

Lathrup Committee Pores Over Storm Water Problem

LATHRUP—Faced with stacks of study material, the city's new storm water advisory committee has met the last two Wednesday evenings with council members, absorbing all the information obtainable on the big problem of storm water drainage.

Mayor Pro Tem Frederick Johnson presented the committee with all the facts and figures saved from last February. Mayor Richard N. Coogler met with the committee on Sept. 24 to discuss his plans for cutting costs.
