

Cranbrook Corridor

By TOM RUTH

Cranbrook will have its homecoming Saturday, when they will meet Cleveland University School in football and soccer.

The activities will begin Friday night near the parking lot with a pep-rally and bon-fire sponsored by the "C" Club. Kingswood will attend.

Just before the games on Saturday will come the judging of the various displays built by all of the houses, day-boy and boomer. The winning house will be presented the "inter-house jug" which was won by Fountains last year. The "jug" will be presented during the half-time ceremonies of the football game.

Post-game activities will include an open-house for all those attending the games. Then in the evening a movie will be shown in the auditorium, to be followed by an informal record dance.

The United World Federalists held their second meeting of the year last Friday night and discussed what impressions Cranbrook's and Kingswood's exchange students got in Europe this summer. Also speaking were Tito Cortella of Italy and Rosa Olaseco of Argentina.

The American students who spoke were Dee-Dee Cooper, Sally Waddell, Jack McNair, John Estzel and Dave Colton. They answered questions dealing with several facets of European life as they saw it; Tito Cortella offered many of his own ideas of what Europe is really like.

Last Friday, Oct. 24 was United Nations Day around the world. In honor of this day, Robert Pedin of the American association for the United Nations spoke to the assembly. He went over the history of the U. N. and then took up the subject of the different agencies of that organization.

No Matter How New BHHS Has Tradition

By ANN BUCHANAN
Special Writer

Bloomfield Hills high school is quite new, and therefore hasn't formed a large group of deep-rooted traditions. As is true with most schools, senior activities provide the majority of traditions. In addition to these, BHHS grads like to look back on their homecoming festivities each fall.

They also cherish pleasant memories of the annual Easter and Christmas concerts presented by the vocal music department. The Christmas dance is one of the biggest of the year and annually provides a night to remember.

THE junior-senior banquet, a not-to-be-forgotten night in every upperclassman's memory, is where the class will be read. Mr. Dean LaRue, French instructor, is endeavoring to make his biennial trip to France a Bloomfield Hills tradition. With another faculty member, he is sponsoring the ever-increasing tour.

SENIOR year leaves BHHS grads with mixed emotions, the Washington trip, taking four days, is a whirl of events, all recorded in each senior's mind to be discussed time and again. Skip day and the senior Prom provide the final memories of the class at play and at their formal best.

The traditional class gift will always remind them of their material contribution to the school.

THE MOST honored award at Bloomfield is the Robert C. J. Traub memorial scholarship. Given to the two most outstanding seniors in the field of art and music for a summer of study in Europe, it is to be awarded annually.

THE first appearance of seniors in cap and gown at Baccalaureate is an impressive scene, giving the group a feeling of accomplishment. Much like Birmingham's, the commencement exercises are very formal, with the class preceded by the school board and faculty in cap and gown.

By the time a senior receives his diploma, the impressions he holds from participation in the Bloomfield Hills traditions are deeply entrenched.

Derby JHS

Derby Plans Dance, Games For Halloween

By SUE BREEDLOVE

Derby junior high school is having a party Oct. 31, Halloween night. Students will dance to the music of a four-piece band. There will also be a movie and bingo games for those who don't care to dance. Hotdogs, doughnuts and cider will be available.

After the party, there will be a home-call contest. If a student is home and receives a call, he or she will win a silver dollar. This will encourage students to go home promptly after the party.

Students look forward to the regular appearance of the Derby Dancers, but very few of them know the staff of ninth graders that publishes it. The members are Betty Stark, Kathy Lutz, Emily Edwards, Steve Roquemore, John Nyland, Janet Haddas, Sue Breedlove, Kathy Squire, Greg Frontier, Janice Taracks, Sandy Turf, Cindy Mott, Bruce Risk, and Bill Bramblet.

These students gather news throughout the school and try to write interesting, informative stories about it. Mrs. Heckley, the publications sponsor, is teaching the class how to set up unbiased news stories in a concise form. Members write creative themes about anything from gloves to mysteries for their grades.
